THURSDAY MORNING, DEC. 13, 1860.

To the Public.

THE SENTINEL, having double the circulation IN THE CITY, and more than treble OUT OF IT, of any other paper here, renders it far the cheapest and most desirable medium in Milwaukee for all classes of Advertisements.

News of the Morning.

Some three hundred citizens of Buffalo held a meeting on Tuesday evening, and proposed to send MILLARD FILLMORE as a messenger of peace to South Carolina, which he declined, after expressing sympathy with the purposes of the meeting.

It is stated that Hon. JAMES GUTHRIE has been appointed Secretary of the Treasury, vice COBB, resigned.

The oil factory of WALDMAN & Co., Brooklyn, has been destroyed by fire.

Advices from China state that two engagements had taken place between the Allied forces and 30,000 Tartar cavalry, in which the Tartars were completely routed, with heavy loss.

The King of Belgium is seriously ill.

The Louisiana Legislature has passed a bill appropriating half a million of dollars for the purpose of arming and equipping volunteer corps.

KEITT, M. C. for South Carolina, left Washington on Tuesday, and will be followed by MILES in a few days.

Political Affinities.

The News affects to believe (though it knows better) that the Sentinel has "found its affinity" in the Charleston Mercury, and with a hypocritical upturning of its eyes, thus laments the fact:

> "The Republican party has been playing into the hands of Southern seceders long enough, and we regret that a paper of the standing and influence of the Sentinel, should coincide in the views of the most ultra of all the secession organs, when it must be apparent to every one that by so doing, it is promoting the cause of secession and disunion."

The "Republican party" are and always have been diametrically opposed to the doctrines and practice of the seceders, and have fought them at every point. The Sentinel, so far from "coinciding in the views" of the Mercury, condemns them utterly. The very last cause we should think of promoting is that of "secession and disunion." The only "aid and comfort" the Southern seceders receive at the North, comes from arrant Doughfaces and ultra-abolitionists.—Each of these classes, though for very opposite reasons, encourage the South in its defiant and extravagant demands and add fuel to the flames which already threaten such extensive mischief. The Republican party and the Sentinel are for THE UNION AND THE CONSTITUTION—let who will be against them.

Where the Responsibility Rests.

The News of yesterday publishes a leaded extract from a letter written by "somebody" at Washington, which it considers of sufficient importance to place in its editorial columns. One paragraph, certainly, is worth noticing. It runs thus:

> "The South could have prevented it ("Secession") at the Charleston Convention, but that was a part of their plan—it was to divide the Democratic party—elect a Black Republican president, and then carry the Southern masses with them and secede—and now they are carrying out the long proposed plan."

In other words, according to the authority cited by the News, it is "the South" and not the Republican party, that is responsible for the present threatening aspect of public affairs. We are happy to say that, for once, we concur with the News.

A CONSTITUTIONAL MONARCHY.—A correspondent of the Columbus (Ga.) Times advocates that the proposed Southern Confederacy shall be organized as a "Constitutional Monarchy." Republicanism, he thinks, has been tried and found wanting, and the only safety of the South is in a strong government. A correspondent of the Enquirer, published at the same place, thinks that if the South wants a King, it should "get a descendent of George the Third, as it would be difficult to make one of American stuff, for the reason so many aspirants would consider their claims set aside, if not elected to the office, and might rebel." Mr. BARSTOW, a secession leader in Georgia, advocates a "stronger consolidated government," and the abolition of all State governments in the Southern Confederacy. Where are we drifting? Secession is bad enough, what will follow it?

"Thus bad begins, and worse remains behind."

> If an election was to be held over again, we should see a very different result in the free States. The people have enough of Lincolnism already.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

In other words, if the election could be held over again, the people of the North would not vote as they pleased, but would vote to please the South and save the Union.

A DEMOCRATIC OPINION OF THE MESSAGE.—FARRAR, of the Washington County Democrat, expresses the following emphatic opinion of Mr. BUCHANAN's views about "Secession:"

"Instead of taking a decided, prompt position in the matter and stating in few words that all such movements are rank treason, and would be summarily punished as such, our O. P. F. devotes three or four columns of his message to secession in all its 'multifarious ramifications,' and amounting, when all summed up, to 'you shall and you shan't, you can and you can't, you will and and won't, you'll be d—d if you do, and you'll be d—d if you don't.'

In our opinion the President has let the last chance slip by for showing to the people that his head is level, and that he has a back-bone."

IMPORTANT ACTION OF BORDER METHODISTS.—The Baltimore American of Friday says:

"The Lay Convention, consisting of lay members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, representing the Baltimore, East Baltimore and Philadelphia Conferences, yesterday held their second day's proceedings in the Eutaw street Church, and after a protracted debate, adopted the report and resolutions favoring withdrawal or separation of the Baltimore Annual Conference, and denouncing the aggressive legislation of the late General Conference of the Church, which was held at Buffalo."

AMENDING THE CONSTITUTION.—The President in his Message recommends an Amendment to the Constitution. The modes of doing this, as prescribed by the Constitution itself, are two:

1st. Congress, by a two-third vote, may propose an Amendment. It must then be ratified by three-fourths of the States, either throught their Legislature or State Convention as Congress may prescribe.

2d. Two-thirds of the Legislatures of the States may require Congress to call a National Convention to propose Amendments. The Amendments proposed by the Convention must then be ratified by three-fourths of the States as in the other case.

To initiate an Amendment, therefore, it is virtually necessary to have the assent of twenty-two States, and to perfect, requires the assent of twenty-five.

JOHN B. GOUGH lectures in Janesville this evening and at Chicago on Friday.

The Reign of Terror.

We are permitted to publish the following private letters, recently received by parties in this city:

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23d, 1860.

DEAR BROTHER: Here I am in the Crescent City, having arrived here from Galveston, Texas, this morning, where I was refused admittance into the country, and ordered out of it as soon as possible; so I was obliged to return by the same steamer. In Galveston they all wear a belt with a revolver and knife, and wear a blue cockade on their hats and march around the streets ready to shoot, stab, or hang any one who voted for or is friendly to Lincoln. The country is in a horrid state, and so is New Orleans. Everything is on the verge of panic and ruin.

I shall start again, to-morrow morning, for Texas, by the land route, and see if I cannot get into the country by that way. I doubt if there will be any trouble about it. One thing is very evident, I can get nothing to do in New Orleans; the very fact of my being a Northerner kills me for business.

Sugar is selling here for 3 and 3 1-4 cents per pound, and the best at that. Molasses that sold eight days ago for 40 cents per pound is selling to-day for 16 cents. So you see what things are coming to.

You must not write to me, at present, as I do not wish to run any risk for a few days; but, should I not write to you in three weeks time, you may then write to Mr. ——, New Orleans, and he will tell you whether I am alive or dead.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 2, 1860.

* * * * *

Now a few words about this political excitement. The most tyrannical monarch in the Old World was never so despotic as these secessionists. Talk about your "free speech!" The day before yesterday, a man, who had resided in the South for some years, merely remarked that he was glad Lincoln was elected. For this he was arrested and thrown into prison, (and it was fortunate for him, for by that he escaped the next lamp-post and rope) and on yesterday he was given twenty-four hours' time to leave the city and State. I could give you any number of cases of the same kind, but let this suffice; and know ye, it is dangerous for a man to let the name of Lincoln pass his lips unless it is coupled with a curse. I tell you, I am getting sick of this place, and shall start for the North again next Spring.—Chicago Tribune, of yesterday.

WINTER'S BUSINESS IN THE PINERY.—We are glad to observe something like the life and activity of former years animating the Pinery this Winter. Preparations for logging are being made on a more extensive scale than during the past three seasons. Our lumbermen are importing large stocks of goods and supplies, and men and teams are constantly arriving and departing for their camps among the Pine trees. In this vicinity we have had a fall of a few inches of snow, but too little for logging purposes. The weather to-day (Thursday) indicates snow and we shall, undoubtedly, soon have sufficient of that indispensable aid to Pinery operations.—Central Wisconsin, Wausau, Dec. 8.

Washington Matters.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—3 P. M.

The Times' Washington correspondent says much dissatisfaction is expressed at the appointment of Guthrie, as the moneyed men here say that he cannot replenish the Treasury, while it is believed that a Northern man could have been nominated who would have had the loan taken at one per cent.

Secretary Thompson had a long private interview with Secretary Floyd to-day, in which he is said to have urged the propriety of both resigning. Secretary Floyd declined co-operation, and declared his purpose to remain at his post till the close of the administration.

A prominent South Carolinian arrived this evening from Columbia, and reports the popular sentiment as opposed to the peace policy as now understood between that State and the Federal authorities.—They urge the immediate seizure of all public property within the limits of South Carolina. The proclamation of Governor Gist seems to favor this sentiment.

Keitt left for home to-night, with the understanding and declaration that he should never come back.

Miles declares his intention to leave on Friday permanently, and says nothing can stop South Carolina from going out of the Union; but that she will not interfere with the Federal authorities, unless she is interfered with.

The General Land Office has issued a patent to the authorities of the city of Portland, Oregon, under the town site law of 1844, for 320 acres, and providing for conflicting claims of other parties. This subject has been in controversy for the last two years, and has enlisted some of the eminent counsel of the country.

Matters at the South.

CHARLESTON, Dec. 11.

There was an animated contest in the Legislature, on the election of Governor, to-day. The following is the second ballot:—Necessary to a choice 81: Pickens 53; Johnson 50, Rhett 28, Jameson 27; Townsend 1; Barnwell 1; Chestnut 1. On the first ballot Pickens and Johnson tied. The election was postponed until Wednesday.

BATON ROUGE, Dec. 11.

A bill to provide for the election of delegates to the State Convention, to be held at Baton Rouge, on the 23d, passed both Houses. In the House a strong effort was made to put the question, convention or no convention before the people.

The Military bill passed the House, appropriating half a million dollars for the appointment of a military commission; also for the organization of volunteer companies, and arming the same, and for establishing a military depot. The Military Board will be convened immediately. Some one sent the purchase of arms amendation to the House, forbidding the purchase of arms at the North, by the Board; which was lost. The House bill confiscating all goods arriving from Northern States, after January 1st, and applying the proceeds of the sale of the same to the purchase of arms, was referred to the joint committee. This created considerable fun. The Legislature adjourned till to-morrow, when the session will probably adjourn.

A Messenger of Peace to South Carolina.

BUFFALO, Dec. 12—3 P. M.

A spontaneous meeting of some three hundred of the most substantial citizens of Buffalo was held last evening at the United States Court room, for the purpose of requesting Hon. Millard Fillmore to proceed to the State of South Carolina as a messenger of peace. A committee waited upon Mr. Fillmore, and Mr. F. expressed the warmest sympathy with the purposes of the meeting. He said, however, he had been invited to attend a meeting upon a National subject of great consideration to men in this State, and that he should feel bound to await the result of the latter step.

New York Matters.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—3 P. M.

Alfred Buchanan, the young man who was arrested at Susquehanna, Pa., supposed to be guilty of the murder of Mrs. Schanks, was yesterday brought back to this city. He denies having committed the offence, but circumstances seem to point directly to him as the guilty party, and his assertions of innocence are not credited. His parents state he is half-witted, and that it was necessary some years since to place him in the Lunatic Asylum at Blackwell's Island. These representations seem to be well authenticated by the young man's appearance.

The oil factory of Waldman & Co., Brooklyn, was burned last night. Loss $12,000.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—9. P. M.

The frigate Congress and steamer Seminole were at Montevideo, Oct. 20th.

The storeship Relief arrived to-night from Loambo. She brings fifteen invalids from the African squadron; also as prisoners the crew of the brig supposed to be the Bonita, captured off Congo river, Oct. 13th, with 713 slaves aboard; also brought Capt. Latham, of the slaver Cora.

BOSTON, Dec. 14—9 P. M.

The telegraph wires are still prostrated beyond Calias and the balance of the Europa's news is detained somewhere east of the break.

Manchester Election.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Dec. 12—3 P. M

David A. Bunton, Republican, was elected Mayor to-day receiving 1,200 votes against 482 cast for Bradbury, the citizens' candidate.

THE LOST ON THE ELGIN.

Persons wishing copies of the SENTINEL containing a list of the lost on the Lady Elgin can obtain them at our counting room. Single copies five cents.

PUFFING.—What is to be done in these bustling times without puffing! Every one, from the dealer in second-hand clothes to the millionaire merchant of our city, deals directly or indirectly in puffing. Every medical practitioner, from the vender of Parr's Life Pills to the Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians, studies the art of puffing. Platform spouters, free-traders, protectionists, teetotalers, political reformers, popular preachers!—ah! how assiduously do ye puff your pet scheme, and how often are ye puffed in return, till verily ye become like inflated bladders and well-filled wind-bags! Shop-keepers puff their wares, railroad directors their lines, artists their pictures, landlords their hotels, mothers their marriageable daughters, and even sectarians can puff the religious societies with which they are connected. Then, O ye publishers and authors, are ye not experts in this delicate art, and believers, as Mr. BIGELOW says, "in humbug general*ly*?"—The system is creeping over our periodical literature. Listen to the Magazine Article puff: "We have good reason for saying that the treatise on the manufacture of mouse-traps in the Monthly Luminary, which has excited so much sensation, is from the pen of the celebrated literary character, Mr. So-and-So!" Bless Mr. So-and-So and his mouse-traps! may his shadow never grow less! He richly deserves the puff and the proprietor's cheque. May it be paid as punctually as if it were for an article for a newspaper! Derogatory all this, do you say, to the character of our learned age? Nonsense—it is in the spirit of the times; it is necessary to our literary existence as is the air we breathe to our physical being?

THE LADY ELGIN DISASTER.—The Milwaukee Sentinel foots up the entire number on board the Lady Elgin at the time of the mournful catastrophe of the eighth of September, at three hundred and seventy-eight, reckoning the crew at thirty-seven, and adds, "probably three hundred and fifty is less than the number lost." We incline to the opinion that its figures are understated.—Chicago Journal.

The "figures" were those of a friend, himself a sufferer by the loss of the Lady Elgin, who carefully compiled the list of the victims, as published in our paper. As it is known that there were persons on board, whose names do not appear in any list, either of the lost or saved, it is quite possible that his estimate of the whole number lost is too low. The general opinion is that it reached, if it did not exceed four hundred. The "entire number on board" was fully five hundred.

THE RENCONTRE ON TUESDAY.—We are requested to state, on behalf of Mr. G. D. DOUSMAN, that he did not strike Mr. CAVERNO until the latter took him by the arm to lead, or push him out of the office in which the collision occurred. We are willing to believe, from our knowledge of Mr. DOUSMAN, that he supposed he was acting under strong provocation. Still we think that the personal assault upon Mr. CAVERNO was wholly unjustifiable, and we cannot understand how the other members of the committee, who waited upon Mr. C., could have stood quietly by and permitted the fight to go on.—Surely that was not the part of "good Samaritans."

CHANGE IN THE FREE DEMOCRAT.—Messrs. C. C. OLIN & Co. announce in the Free Democrat of last evening, that they have disposed of that establishment to Judge A. D. SMITH, late of our Supreme Court. The business department will be conducted, for the present, by Mr. J. B. SMITH. Under the new management the Free Democrat will no doubt maintain the high reputation it enjoys as a political paper.

SOMETHING NEW.—The new style of visiting and visitations in New York is worthy of notice. The present rage is this: If a wedding is to come off among the ton, the mother of the bride elect takes her carriage and instead of sending a servant up the steps as formerly, the lady alights—goes to the door, rings, asks for the party invited, hands the card of invitation, and drives off. It is regarded as a distinguished honor to have a semi-personal invitation.

THE following names have been handed in, to be added to the list of the lost on the Lady Elgin:

MICHEEL LANIGAN, laborer, Third Ward. Aged 30 years.

JOHN SHARRARD, fireman on LaCrosse R. R., First Ward.

This makes the total number known and supposed to be lost, 380.

JEALOUS.—Our friend TAYLOR, the Chicago bard, rather snubs the author of the "Tribute to Kane." Brother TAYLOR don't like to have a rival so near home. From what he says we should think he had made a mistake in the book and has been reading some of his own sweet twaddle.

THE Treasurer of the Protestant Orphan Asylum has received the following Thanksgiving offerings since her last acknowledgment: Spring Street Cong. Church $10, Plymouth Church $70, First Presbyterian $112,01, and two barrels of flour.

SANTA CLAUS is making up his budget of Christmas presents about these days, and it would be well for him to be reminded that to hundreds of true wives and mothers no gift would be more acceptable than a policy of life insurance.

WELLS DRYING UP.—The Wausaw, (Marathon Co.,) paper says the wells in that region are all drying up, and no one is able to account for it.

JOHN A. SAVAGE delivered a lecture before the Good Templars on Tuesday evening, which we hear spoken of as a very fine affair.

LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY.—We have received the eleventh annual catalogue of the Lawrence University at Appleton, Wisconsin, from which we are happy to hear that the institution, which is an honor to the State, is in a flourishing condition.

THE CASE OF ROBERT WHITEHEAD.—The case of the State vs. ROBERT WHITEHEAD, indicted for larceny of School Orders, was brought to a close in the Municipal Court, yesterday. The Jury, after being out fifteen or twenty minutes, brought in a verdict of Not Guilty. The evidence justifies this verdict. The case was very well managed for the defendant by Mr. J. L. DORAN; and fairly and ably conducted, for the State, by District Attorney CORSON and Mr. A. R. R. BUTLER. The charge of Judge MALLORY was able and impartial. Mr. WHITEHEAD was warmly congratulated by his friends upon the result of the trial.

ANOTHER FESTIVAL.—We learn that the Ladies of the Spring Street M. E. Church are to have a Festival for the benefit of that Church, in order to enable them to pay off the interest falling due on the church edifice also to pay some bills contracted by a member of the Church which the church are not legally bound to pay. Nevertheless the Ladies feel disposed to make an effort to pay the bills, and therefore have engaged Albany Hall for Thursday evening the 20th inst., when and where they propose to give an entertainment. They will have music on the occasion. Tickets of admission 50 cents, which will include the supper.

FESTIVAL AT CONOVER'S HALL.—We dropped in at the festival last evening at Conover's Hall, given for the benefit of the Asbury M. E. Church. We found a very lively crowd of ladies and gentlemen present enjoying themselves to the full extent of their capacities. The arrangements were all consummated in the best of style, and none who attended can find any fault. The object was a very worthy one, and we hope the Society reaped a harvest last night.

FENCING TOURNAMENT—ZOUAVE DRILL.—Major DEVILLIERS, of the Chicago "Zouaves," and himself an original member of the famous French corps of that name, will give an exhibition in fencing, gymnastics, the Zouave drill and other military exercises at the Academy of Music, on Saturday evening next. He hopes to meet, on this occasion, his unknown antagonist, the "Officer of Rank," who has challenged him through the newspapers, to a friendly trial of skill. The entertainment will be well worth seeing. Admission 25 cents.

CONCERT OF THE MUSICAL SOCIETY.—The one hundred and tenth concert of the Musical Society takes place on Friday evening at Albany Hall. In the programme we notice that beautiful composition the Terzetto for Soprano, Tenor and Baritone, from the opera of "Joseph," are an unusual number of extra pieces conspicuous among which is "Wagner's magnificent Pilgrim Chorus."

THE WEATHER—MORE SNOW WANTED.—Yesterday was a fine sample of winter weather—clear and cold. In the country there is excellent sleighing, and three or four inches of snow would make it good in the city. There was a promise in the clouds last night, that we should get it.—When we went to press, it was snowing hard.

THE GAME LAW ENFORCED.—Two unfortunate individuals were brought up before the Municipal Court yesterday, charged with having in their possession and exposing for sale, prairie chickens and quail. The facts being undisputed, the Court fined the offenders $2 for every bird found in their possession, with costs of suit. This makes game rather an expensive luxury. Poultry is vastly cheaper.

"OLD AMERICA" AT THE NEWHALL HOUSE.—Another of those very pleasant parties comes off, to night, at the Newhall House. If you want to enjoy yourself, go and attend it. Persons wishing tickets can procure them of J. M. ALCOTT, H. W. GOODRICH, E. HIBBARD, MORTON & FOWLER, and of "SANDY," at HUNN & CROSBY'S.

A RARE CHANCE FOR THE LADIES.—MACK BROS. are now offering beautiful silks at fifty cents a yard; good kid gloves at twenty cents a pair; handsome delaines at ten cents a yard. Read their advertisement in this morning's SENTINEL and go to 181 East Water Street for bargains.

SAD ACCIDENT.—A span of horses attached to a double wagon, took fright and ran away yesterday morning on Chestnut street, running over GEO. WESLING and breaking one of his legs. He was taken to the office of a physcian near at hand by W. G. HAACK, and properly cared for.

PERSONAL.—Mr. FEATHERSTONHAUGH, of this city, has just returned from Sheboygan, where he has been lecturing—we believe under the auspices of the Good Templars. He is eminently qualified for this field, and we have no doubt will be as eminently successful.

GIFT CONCERT TO THE CORNET BAND.—A large proportion of the tickets to this attractive entertainment have been disposed of. The prospect is that all will be sold.—Apply soon if you want that Piano, or any of the other choice gifts.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—If the "Member of the Young Men's Association" had given us his name with his communication in reference to the difficulty between Messrs. CORNING and CAVERNO, we should have published it, as it is, we will not.

MUSICAL SOCIETY CONCERT.—The next concert of the Milwaukee Musical Society will be given to-morrow evening. The programme is an excellent one. We hope to see a crowded house.

THE SEVENTH WARD SCHOOL will be discontinued until next Monday, in order to put in a furnace. The Normal class will meet on Tuesday at 4 o'clock.

A GHOST.—The Central Wisconsin, published at Marathon, gives an account of a veritable ghost seen in those parts.

GUERNSEY'S BALM.—Ought to be in every family in every city, town, hamlet, and school district in the country. It is real value was understood, it would not be ten days before every famil would possess it.

For sale by J. M. ALCOTT, opposite the Sentinel Office.

THE LARGEST CLOTHING HOUSE IN THE WEST.—It has become a universal custom with all who desire a fashionable, superior and becoming outfit, to make their selections from the Mammoth House of SPROULE & BENNETT, No. 150 East Water street. This establishment is fast gaining a reputation of keeping none but first class goods—ready-made clothing, as well as every variety of gents' furnishing goods. Their present stock for the winter trade, as well as their prices demanded, cannot fail to please all who call. For the worth of your money in clothing, go to No. 150 East Water street. dec8k391deod1mo

All persons who sell Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus are authorized to give their customers the privilege of using one half the paper, and if not perfectly satisfactory, to return the balance and get the amount paid for the whole. It is the best in the world. It is a great deal better than soda to use with cream tartar. Try it. Most of the Grocers and Druggists keep it.

THE QUININE TONIC BITTERS of C. H. Atwood is bottled by the proprietor in half-pints as well as quarts, in order to give ALL an opportunity of testing his claim to its being the best preparation extant, for the prevention and cure of incipient or aggravated dyspepsia, as also as a restorative in debility arising from impaired health.

TAKEN.—However, that is neither here nor there; she went home to breakfast, and had scarcely caught the full flavor of her first cup of tea when the servant passed her a plate of biscuit, the sight of which, to say nothing of smell, immediately threw her into violent hysterics. "Oh!" she exclaimed in an agonizing tone of voice, "take the horrid things from my sight." This sad spectacle would have been prevented had the cook used D. B. DeLand & Co.'s Chemical Saleratus, instead of the worthless, impure stuff which did find its way into that otherwise peaceful and happy household. D. B. De Land & Co., Fairport, Monroe Co., N. Y., make a perfectly pure and reliable Saleratus. It can be procured of most dealers in groceries, and at wholesale from the grocers in large towns, and of the manufacturers.

THE Life of Andrew Jackson
BY JAMES PARTON,
Author of "Life of Aaron Burr," etc.
Three Volumes, 636 to 734 pages each, with Steel Portraits

CROWN OCTAVO EDITION.—Cloth Binding, $5,00; Sheep, $6,75; Half-Calf, $9,00; Full Calf, $12.

SUBSCRIBERS' EDITION, Royal Octavo (sold by Subscription only).—Cloth, $7,50; Sheep, $9; Half Calf $12; Full Calf, $15.

MR. PARTON HAS BEEN SEVERAL years engaged in the preparation of this work, and has bestowed upon it the most careful research and investigation. The first volume of the Subscribers' Edition was issued a year since: the second was published last spring, and the third and last is now completed. Of the first and second volumes the press have spoken in the warmest commendations:

"The life of Andrew Jackson was indeed an eventful one, and the events that were crowded into his career, as a pioneer, a general, and a statesman, are among the most important in the history of our country."—Taunton Gazette. "Almost all that relates to him is peculiar, extraordinary, and interesting."—Auburn Times. "Those who have been most familiar with the career of Jackson, will be surprised at the mass of new matter the author has collected."—Boston Journal. "It exhausts the subject."—New York Day Book. "It is an honest book throughout."—Nashville Union. "It is equally free from the spirit of detraction, on the one hand, and of unmixed glorification, on the other. Failings and virtues are alike faithfully delineated."—Western Christian Advocate. "One of the most readable of books. Every page is alive. It is as romantic as a mediæval romance, and yet has the advantage of being true."—Home Journal. "Possesses a degree of interest which can scarcely be overrated."—New York World. "A fresher, livelier account was never written of any hero, by any author."—Boston Advertiser. "No work of fiction could be better fitted to hold the attention and bear the mind along with a sustained enthusiasm, than this account of the real life of one of our own countrymen."—Boston Recorder. "From first to last, the work is intensely interesting."—Philadelphia Rem. "Perfectly fascinating."—New York Day Book. "The narrative is flowing and charming. We confess having read the whole (one volume) in two prolonged sittings."—Harper's Weekly. "The most difficult task was where and how to part company with it."—New York Crayon. "Of intense and permanent interest."—New York Observer. "The most interesting political and personal history ever written of any public man in this country."—Pennsylvanian. "His style is fairly eloquent with vividness and fluency. His account of the defense of New Orleans from its inception to its climax, interests more deeply than a tale of chivalry, or an oriental romance."—Auburn Times. "One of the most interesting and instructive books we have ever read."—Russell's Magazine, (Charleston, S. C.) "A Life indeed, and before which the conventional and common-place biographies of modern times sink into stupidity and insignificance."—New York Journal of Commerce.

CITY LAND OFFICE.

SIX THOUSAND ACRES OF DEEDED Farming Land in the State of Wisconsin—Lands selected and entered several years ago.

I am instructed by the owner to sell said lands at any price, and on such terms that any one, who has any spark of "Go Ahead," can secure for himself and family a home. Who should feel any more independent than the farmer. Of all occupations to create love and love for our country, agriculture is the best. It enables those who pursue it to live a fuller and freer independent life. It is less exposed to temptation. If the multitudes who are hard run to get bread would leave this and other pent up cities and occupy and improve the thousands of acres of fine land in our country, yet uncultivated, it would greatly enhance individual happiness and public good. Try it, ye starved ones.—If you are disappointed, then I am no prophet.—Call at my Land Office, and inquire about the lands I have for sale. CALEB WALL,

NIAGARA HOTEL FOR SALE.

THE ABOVE WELL-KNOWN HOTEL, situated in the Fifth Ward, Milwaukee, on the corner of Hanover and Florida streets, is offered for sale at a great bargain, by the proprietor. The above hotel has been kept for fourteen years by the present owner, and during all that time has done a good paying business, and he now desires to sell because his age and the situation of his family unfit him for attending to the duties incident thereto. The house is near all the principal Railroads leading to and from the city, has ample accommodations for one hundred guests and stable room for fifty horses and ample yard room. The house is well furnished throughout, which furniture will be sold if desired with the house. Terms are easy. Only a portion of the purchase money required to be paid down, the balance can remain on mortgage for a term of years. Any information in regard to this valuable property can be had by calling upon JOHN ROSEBECK, nov20k324dtlaw2t Proprietor.

CITY LAND OFFICE.

LOOK AHEAD. BE PREPARED FOR the flood of emigration which will pour in upon us. Look at the South, all on fire. Thousands of thousands will leave and go where they can have free air and free speech, and lands which they can call their own. Now is the time to invest your surplus money in farming lands. Thousands upon thousands of farmers, and others, who have been struggling for years to make money, are now able to invest. The abundant crops have done a wonderful work, and Providence is smiling upon this great State of ours. Our growth and development in wealth and property will be great beyond precedent. What is to be done with all the money, with the accumulating millions now flowing into the pockets of the people? Invest your money in good farming land; nothing is more safe; the land in Wisconsin will all be wanted. The great noisy South will cause thousands of thousands to come and purchase our lands. Wisconsin is the great western State of this, our Union, and thousands are looking toward us. Invest your money in lands that can be purchased at low prices.

I have seven thousand five hundred acres of farming lands in the Northern and Western parts of our State, which I am instructed to sell at reduced prices. The lands principally are in good neighborhoods, and within short distance of railroads. I have also improved farms to sell, and I also am ready to act as agent for any who have lands and farms for sale; send in your list, with a full description of your property, improvements, price, terms, &c., and I will pay that attention it requires.

THE SENTINEL.

DAILY, TRI-WEEKLY & WEEKLY

RUFUS KING, Editor.

THURSDAY MORNING, DEC. 13, 1860

A United North against Secession.

The Albany Evening Journal pleads urgently for Union among THE PEOPLE of the North, to meet the threatening front of Secession and to retain, in fraternal bonds, those of the Southern States which are not ready to follow the insane and treasonable lead of South Carolina. The Journal says:

> The fact of Secession is fixed. Our object is to be in readiness to meet it. We want, at the North, a UNITED PEOPLE. We want to arouse, encourage and embody the Union sentiment of the border Slave States. There are good Union men in Delaware, in Maryland, in Virginia, in Missouri, in Kentucky, in Tennessee, and in North Carolina. With them we want to preserve fraternal relations. And above all we are unwilling to see the twenty-five thousand Republicans in those States, who voted for Lincoln and Hamlin, "crushed out."
> We would offer all concessions and guarantees consistent with justice, duty and self-respect, not that the course of States blinded by passion will be changed, but that all who love the Union may be banded together for an emergency which will try their firmness and its strength.
> Regarding the Secession of several Southern States as a predetermined fact, and civil war as a consequence inevitable, we desire to see the friends of the Union drawn together and consolidated, so that there may be not only a united South, in rebellion, but a united North in defence of the Constitution and the Laws.—There are, with a rightful presentation of the question—keeping ourselves to the strict line of duty—legions of friends of the Union outside of the Republican party. Let us, then, give such form and direction to this conflict as will ensure the co-operation of all on whom the country has a right to rely. In short, let us, as Republicans, show the world that our duties as partisans are in harmony with the duties of patriotism.

The North will do much—aye, almost anything—to disarm the fears, satisfy the doubts and conquer the prejudices of those Southern States which appeal, in the right spirit, to its justice and magnanimity. It will willingly listen to the voice of KENTUCKY, MISSOURI, TENNESSEE, MARYLAND, &c. Nor would it turn a deaf ear even to the madmen of South Carolina, could they, for a moment, abandon their secession antics and deal calmly and deliberately with the grave questions of the day.

But priceless as is the Union to the North and much as we are prepared to yield, in satisfaction of the reasonable demands of the border slave States, the people of the free States cannot be dragooned into humiliating concessions, or one-sided compromises. The South must be told kindly, yet firmly, that they, too, have reparation to make for wrongs done to the North. The compromise, which is to save the Union, or unite the people of the North in a common cause with the border States, in order to be enduring, must be mutual.

The Fugitive Slave Law.

The Personal Liberty Laws in several of the Northern States, were the direct result of the enactment of the Fugitive Slave Law of 1850; the intentionally obnoxious provisions in the latter provoking retaliation.—The Freeman's Journal, published at Cooperstown, N. Y., and well known as a long time and influential Democratic journal, thus speaks of that law:

> "We are free to admit that the Fugitive Slave Law has "offensive features which should now be removed." The law should be all that the Constitution contemplates, and it should be carried out in good faith; public officers charged with executing it should do their duty, and no one should be allowed to hinder them in its discharge; but no private citizen should be compelled to aid in catching a fugitive slave—and we never yet saw a man in New York who would admit he could be forced into any such business by fear of fine or imprisonment, however willing he might be to aid in putting down a mob raised for the purpose of rescuing a fugitive from the custody of a public officer."

Nothing, certainly, would sooner, or more certainly dispose the Northern States to repeal the laws of which the South complain, than the amendment of the Fugitive Slave Act in the particulars referred to. The North, as well as the South, has its "grievances, though, to read Mr. BUCHANAN'S message and the Doughface papers, everybody would conclude that all the right was with the South and all the wrong with the North.

The President and the Collection of the Revenues.

> President Buchanan yesterday announced to a gentleman of high standing that he would collect the revenues at all hazards if any Southern seceding State attempted to assume the power of the federal government in this respect. He complained bitterly of South Carolina in rushing out of the Union, but avowed his determination to obey the laws. When asked if he would use force, he answered, "I will obey the laws." We shall see if he will do his whole duty in this important crisis.—Phila. Press.

There is nothing in the message to authorize the hope that Mr. BUCHANAN "will do his whole duty." In all that he says on the subject of secession he "palters with us in a double sense." He falsely arraigns the North as being alone responsible for the existing troubles; claims that the South is in the right; denies that any State has a right to secede and declares that there is no power in the General Government to prevent secession. What can be hoped for from a President whose Administration has beggared the Treasury, disgraced the country, and brought the Union into the most imminent peril?

The President and his Allies.

It is said that the President has implored the Disunionists of the South to postpone the consummation of their treason until the close of his term. This favor he demands of them in consideration of his faithful observance of their commands during his entire term of office, even to the extent of distracting the nation and destroying his own party. But the fire-eaters having used him to their entire satisfaction now treat his supplications with contempt. In vain he may tell them that he has sacrificed his honor, his political reputation and his manhood in their service, and that in pity they should grant him this poor request. They laugh at him in his sorrow, and even revile him in his humiliation. When his wishy-washy message was read in Congress, they could not suppress their contempt for the man and the document.

And yet the President might well say to them Et tu Brute? Has he not in that message espoused their cause by throwing the whole blame of secession upon the North? Did he not expatiate in strong language on the subject of the personal liberty bills, and did he not maintain a dead silence on the outrages committed on the persons of visitors and residents in the South? This he did to please them, and yet they will not stretch forth a hand to save him!

A TRAITOR OF TWENTY YEARS STANDING.—Mr. HAWKINS, of Florida, in declining to serve on the committee of one from each State in the Union, says that he has been in favor of disunion for twenty years. Such men have enjoyed the protection of the Union twenty years too long.

Mr. HAWKINS finds plenty of sympathizers and prototypes in South Carolina. That State has been disloyal to the Union almost from the moment that she entered it.

CARL SCHURZ.—The Albany Evening Journal of Saturday last, says of our distinguished fellow citizen, CARL SCHURZ:

> "This eloquent and brilliant orator speaks on Monday night before the Young Men's Association, on "American Civilization," a theme which, hackneyed as it is, he is peculiarly qualified to treat with originality and vigor. Our citizens have long desired an opportunity to hear him, and will crowd the Hall."

THE COMMERCE OF LIBERIA.—The custom house returns from Monrovia for the year 1859, give the following result: Exports, $190,369.22; imports, $143,858; excess of exports over imports, $46,511.22. The main articles of export were palm oil, camwood, ivory, sugar, molasses, palm kernels, and coffee. There are five other ports of entry, the returns of which are not before us. The production of the above named staples of export is rapidly increasing.

THE CENSUS.—A Washington letter writer says, all the returns have been received, except those from Utah. But the developments in various localities show they are strangely defective and unreliable.

The People of the North, with rare exceptions, have but an imperfect idea of Slavery and its surroundings; or of the feeling of intense alarm which occasionally pervades whole States and sections of the South, when the rumor of "a Slave insurrection" is whispered from ear to ear. In the following letter, written by a Lady in South Carolina, whose husband resides on a plantation, and is the owner of thirty-one slaves, addressed to her uncle in New York and published in the Times, a vivid picture is drawn of the existing condition of things in the Palmetto State:

"You may imagine, dear uncle, our situation, but you never can realize it in its fullness. Already we tremble in our own homes in anticipation and expectancy of what is liable to burst forth at any moment, a negro insurrection. Could you see the care and precaution displayed here by the proprietors of the negroes, not only planters, but others, you would not for a moment envy us our possessions. Not a night passes that we do not securely lock our field servants in their quarters; but our most loved and valued house servants, who in ordinary times we would trust to any extent, are watched and guarded against with all the scrutiny and care that we possess. Our planters and owners of slave property do not allow their servants to have any intercourse with each other, and the negroes are confined strictly to the premises where they belong.

We are all obliged to increase our force of overseers to prevent to free intercourse even among our own servants. The negroes feel and notice these new restraints, and naturally ask, "Why is this?" But it is unnecessary for them to ask the question, for they all comprehend the cause as well as we who own them. They have already learned enough to give them an idea of what is going on in the State and nation, and this knowledge they have not gained from Abolitionists, as some suppose, but from the conversation of their owners indirectly held in their presence. They have already heard of Lincoln's election, and have heard also that he is going to give them their liberty, and you may imagine the result.

You have heard that our servants all love their masters and their masters' families, and would lay down their lives for them—that the colored race in the South prefers slavery to freedom—that they would not be free if they could, &c., &c. That is but the poetry of the case, the reality consists in sleeping upon our arms at night—in doubly bolting and barring our doors—in establishing and maintaining an efficient patrol force—in buying watch dogs, and in taking turns in watching our sleeping children, to guard them and ourselves from the vengeance of these same "loving servants"—a vengeance, which, though now smouldering, is liable to burst out at any moment, to overwhelm the State in spite of the Palmetto flags or State precautions.

You at the North are not the only ones who are suffering financially by this new panic. The planters among us are really suffering from the depreciation in their property. Already negroes are not worth half price. No one dares to buy a servant, fearing lest he, in doing so, should be introducing upon his plantation one tinctured with the idea of freedom.

My husband has but a few servants—I believe but thirty-one all told—still I feel (and so does he) that they are thirty-one too many in such times as these. He would sell them immediately, if it were possible, but the truth is he could realize nothing for them at present, or at most not over half their real value. Slaves are a drug in the market, my husband says, and you know him well enough to judge of his judgment in such matters.

Now, one word as to the military force of the State, to protect us against insurrection. I presume, with the exception of Charleston, and perhaps a few large towns, that the remainder of the State is situated very much as we are here; and I will give you an idea of how well prepared we are to resist a mob. Upon our place of about 1,200 acres we have of whites, males—husband, two overseers and my son of 18 years; total, four; females—self and cousin, little Lucy and one of the overseer's wife—four, of whom only four at the most are capable of bearing arms—to offset which we have at least seventeen field hands—sturdy young negroes—besides the female servants. And this is a fair representation of the force upon our plantations. Considering such a state of facts, do you blame me for desiring to absent myself, my husband and children from the State?"

The passage introduced in the above letter is a striking and emphatic contradiction of the charge so commonly made by the Democratic organs, and which is embodied in Mr. BUCHANAN'S late Message, that Northern "agitators" are responsible for this dangerous state of affairs on the plantations of the South. The slaves have learned all these things from their own masters. But bad as matters may be, just now, at the South, "Secession" would be the most fatal remedy that could be tried. If the Union is dissolved, Slavery will not long survive it.

John Bell for the Union.

JOHN BELL, of Tennessee, in reply to an invitation to address a public meeting at Vicksburg, Mississippi, on the state of the country, has written a letter from which we make a few extracts. Mr. BELL, though not particularly pleased with the result of the late election, is too true a patriot not to submit, with good grace, to the popular will, constitutionally expressed. He closes his letter in the following strain:

> "Viewing the subject in every light in which it can be presented, I am constrained to say that by no principle of public law, by no code of morals, by no law of Earth or Heaven, would Mississippi, or any other State, be justified, under existing circumstances, in withdrawing from the Union. I confidently believe that the happiest consequences would result from a conference of all the Southern States. I as confidently believe that a majority of the people of the North are this day prepared to agree to any fair and reasonable plan of adjustment which such a conference of the Southern States would propose. I purposely abstain from suggesting what, in my opinion, should be the basis of such a plan of adjustment.
> After what I have written on the preceding pages of this letter, it is scarcely necessary to say that I am resolved to adhere to the Union. I will not say that in no possible contingency would I consent to a separation of the States. But I would exhaust every constitutional means for the redress of our grievances, before I would think of dissolving the Union. I am not willing that one State should be withdrawn from the Union—that one star should be stricken from the bright cluster which now emblazons the national flag.
> I have long foreseen the probable occurrence of a crisis like the present, and shrunk from the possible issue of it, and I could never contemplate the destruction of the Union without sensations not unlike those which I imagine would overwhelm me on beholding the last going down of the sun,—never to rise again forever.
> With the highest consideration and esteem, I am your fellow-citizen,
> JOHN BELL.
> To A. Burwell, Esq., Vicksburg, Miss."

ACTORS' PAY.—JOHN BROUGHAM, the actor, is now receiving $300 per week, at the Haymarket Theater, London. Last year he only received from WALLACK $175 per week. LESTER WALLACK receives $125 a week: Mr. Blake, $115; and Charles Walcott, $100. At the Winter Garden and Niblo's, Messrs. Couldock and Dyott received $70 and $50, and Messrs. Conway and Fisher $70 and $60, respectively, a week. At Miss Keene's this season there are no high salaries, but at the opening of the last she paid Mr. Jordan $100. Last season, too, Mrs. John Wood and Mr. Jefferson received, each, $150 a week under the management of Mr. Stewart. Good actors, as a general thing, are better paid than almost any other profession. But few of our best lawyers realize more than our good stock actors, and not many of the literary men of the day are as well compensated.

POPULATION OF ILLINOIS.—The population of Illinois according to the census just taken is 1,719,496, against 846,935 in 1850, being an increase of 872,560 in ten years.—This is a handsome gain, though not so large, proportionately, as that of Wisconsin. In 1850, our population was but 305,000—in 1860, it was 777,776—an increase of more than 150 per cent.

AFRICAN PALM KERNELS.—Palm kernels are a new article of commerce. The palm fruit grows like a peach or plum, having a pulp, from which the common palm oil is extracted, and a stone like a peach stone, which was formerly considered of no value. It is now ascertained that the kernel, or "meat," inside of the stone, yields a superior oil. Seven hundred and seventy-five bushels of this new article were exported last year from the port of Monrovia.

THE UNION.

[The following spirited lines were cut from a newspaper (the Vicksburg, Miss., Whig) many years since. They are appropriate to the present times:]

The blood that flowed at Lexington and crimsoned bright Champlain,
Streams still along the Southern Gulf, and by the lakes of Maine;
It flows in veins that swell above Pacific's golden sand,
And throbs in hearts that love and grieve by dark Atlantic's strand.
It binds in one vast brotherhood the trapper of the West;
With men whose cities glass themselves in Erie's azure breast;
And those to whom September brings the fireside's social hours,
With those who see December's brow enwreathed with gorgeous flowers!
From where Columbia laughs to greet the smiling western wave,
To where Potomac sighs beside the patriot hero's grave;
And from the streaming everglades to Huron's lordly flood,
The glory of the nation's Past thrills through a kindred blood!

Wherever Arnold's tale is told it dyes the cheek with shame,
And glows with pride o'er Bunker Hill or Moultrie's wilder fame;
And wheresoe'er above the fray the stars of empire gleam,
Upon the deck or o'er the dust it pours a common stream!

It is a sacred legacy ye never can divide,
Nor take from village urchin, nor the son of city pride;
For the hunter's white-hair'd children who find a fruitful home
Where nameless lakes are sparkling, and where lonely rivers roam!

Greene drew his sword at Eutaw; and bleeding South ern feet
Trod the march across the Delaware amid the snow and sleet;
And lo! upon the parchment where the natal record shines,
The burning page of Jefferson bears Franklin's calmer lines!

Can ye divide that record bright, and tear the names apart,
That first were written boldly there with plight of hand and heart?
Could ye erase a Hancock's name, e'en with the sabre's edge,
Or wash out with fraternal blood a Carroll's double pledge?

Say, can the South sell out her share in Bunker's glorious height?
Or can the North give up her boast of Yorktown's closing fight?
Can ye divide with equal hand a heritage of graves,
Or rend in twain the starry flag that o'er them proudly waves?

Can ye cast lots for Vernon's soil, or chaffer 'mid the gloom
That hangs in solemn folds about your common Father's tomb?
Or could ye meet around the grave as fratricidal foes,
And wake your burning curses o'er his pure and calm repose?

Ye dare not! is the Alleghanian's thunder-toned decree;
'Tis echoed where Nevada guards the blue and tranquil sea,
Where tropic waves delighted clasp our flowery Southern shore,
And where through frowning mountain-gates Nebraska's waters roar!

T. E. C.

The Presidential Election.

We copy from the London Times of the 21st ult., the following article upon the result of our late election of President. It is interesting, as giving the English view of the case, although it falls into one or two errors, as might naturally be expected:

"The further accounts we have received from America, tend entirely to confirm the view we took of the probable results of the Presidential election. It seems quite clear that those who were on the spot, and who, from the interest they naturally felt in what was passing around them, would be the most likely to exaggerate the probable consequences, saw no reason whatever to think that the defeat of the Southern candidate would be followed by a disruption of the Union. The Southern States have, in addition to the other faults which we pointed out yesterday, been guilty of the additional error of dividing their strength, owing to their inability to agree upon a candidate. Their only hope was that Mr. Lincoln would not obtain the requisite number of votes. They would not expect that they would be able to obtain that number for any one else. While they were united they were successful. When they became divided they failed. It is the common lot of man, and cannot be reversed even in favor of gentlemen having such peculiar grounds for expecting everything human and superhuman to combine in their favor as the slaveholders of the Southern States.

When we read the speech of Mr. Lincoln on the subject of Slavery, and consider the extreme moderation of the sentiments it expresses, the allowance that is made for the situation, for the feelings, for the prejudices of the South; when we see how entirely he narrows his opposition to the single point of the admission of slavery into the Territories, we cannot help being forcibly struck by the absurdity of breaking up a vast and glorious confederacy like that of the United States from the dread and anger inspired by the election of such a man to the office of chief magistrate. If the cause of the Southerns be really so good, let them show, or rather let the disappointed partizans and professional agitators who assume to represent them, show a little more confidence in it. Is it true that the institution of Slavery cannot exist in confederation with freedom, unless it has in its hands the central government, to use and apply principally, if not solely, for its maintenance? Suppose it should be established as a fundamental maxim of the Union by the decision of a Supreme Court, in which both sides are represented, that a planter has no inherent right to take his slaves with him into a Territory, does that draw after it the consequence that slavery must be proscribed and abolished? Suppose a repeal of the fugitive slave law—does that prevent the South from taking such efficient measures as may be required to keep its slaves from flight and escape?—If slavery has indeed come to this point, then, indeed, is the day of emancipation for the negro nearer than any of us had supposed. But, if so, would not the Southerns do more wisely in setting their house to order, and preparing some plan of gradual emancipation, by which the violence of the impending catastrophe might in some degree be mitigated, than in clinging to a system which, on their own admission, can only exist under the very improbable condition of a systematic sacrifice of the interests and feelings of the North to those of the South?

We do not, as we have said, believe the catastrophe to be imminent, and we are disposed to attribute to the institution of slavery a vitality which, as it seems, its warmest advocates do not believe it to possess; still, we cannot conceal from ourselves that the recent vote of the American people is fraught with many momentous consequences. Heretofore when a President has been elected he has been supported at least by the minority in every State in the Union. But in the present instance there is a considerable number of States in which not a single vote was cast for the successful candidate. This, it is said, and not without some show of justice, tends directly to that state of parties against which Washington emphatically counselled his fellow-citizens—the dividing themselves into factions designated by geographical lines. It must always be remembered, however, that if Mr. Lincoln has not had even a minority in many of the slave States, this has happened because on questions relating to the extension or maintenance of slavery a great number of the Southern States allow of no minority. A man may have opinions adverse to slavery, and a man may reside in a slave State, but he cannot do both of these at once. If he asserts his opinions, he must change his residence in a world beyond the jurisdiction of lynch law. If, then, there be no minority in favor of the President elect in some of the States, it is because in them, on the question of slavery there is no free discussion, no liberty of thought, speech, writing, or action; and it is to this source, not to any peculiar factiousness in the supporters of Mr. Lincoln, that the sharpness of the division now made apparent between the North and the South is to be traced. In the North there are majorities and minorities on the slave question; in the South there is at least apparent unanimity, just as there is an appearance of an universal belief in the Roman Catholic religion in Spain or in the States of the Church.

Another effect of the change which has just taken place is one not peculiar to America, but which was strongly felt in England thirty years ago. The Southerners and their allies, owing to a tenure of office extending over so many years, have obtained a monopoly of official knowledge and aptitude. So long and so firmly established has been their dynasty that the cause of the North has been deserted in despair by the ablest of Northern politicians. Seeing no chance for doing that which has just been done, Mr. Webster, Everett, and a number of eminent men of the same party, have allied themselves to the South, and sought by concessions to the slave-owning interest to obtain a position which they believed the North would never be able to give them. These men, the natural leaders of the republican party, were lost to them owing to this fatal miscalculation, and Mr. Lincoln will have to carry on his government by new and untried officials in the face of an opposition full of ability and experience. It is, besides, asserted that, although the President is republican, the majority of the two Chambers is Democratic; so that the new reign starts with that which is only too often the difficulty in American politics—a direct conflict between the Legislature and the Executive. Probably this reflection will tend as much as anything to soften the first alarm of the South.

Upon the whole, though we do not expect any very considerable benefit to ourselves, and although we believe the Southern States to be a great deal more frightened than hurt by the recent election, we rejoice, on higher and surer grounds, that it has ended in the return of Mr Lincoln. We are glad to think that the march of slavery, and the domineering tone which its advocates were beginning to assume over freedom, have been at length arrested and silenced. We rejoice that a vast community of our own race has at length given an authoritative expression to sentiments which are entertained by every one in this country. We trust to see the American government employed in tasks more worthy of a State founded on the doctrines of liberty and equality than the invention of shifts and devices to perpetuate servitude; and we hear in this great protest in American freedom the tardy echo of those humane doctrines to which England has so long become a convert."

Another Cure.

WAUMADEE, Minn., April 15, 1857.

MESSRS. B. PAGE, JR. & CO.—GENTLEMEN:—During the past seven years I have suffered from all the ills incident to a weakness of the digestive organs. At times—being seized with an extreme loathing of food—I have not tasted nourishment for days; and again, when an appetite partially returned, the stomach was unable to retain what was eaten. At the suggestion of a friend, who had received much benefit, in a similar case from your Holland Bitters, I procured a bottle, and before I had taken half of it, experienced much relief; and now, after having continued its use for a short time, enjoy excellent health.

Yours, &c., J. MASTER.

Special Notices.

THE NEW AMERICAN WATCH!

Made at Waltham, Mass.

IN ORDER TO MEET THE REQUIREMENTS of gentlemen who prefer a thinner Watch than those usually made by us, we have lately issued a new style of Watch on the three-quarter-plate model, (especially designed for this purpose.

In establishing this new series, it has also been our design to produce a Watch in every way superior to the best and highest priced products of the most reputable of English and Swiss manufacturers; and no labor or expense has been spared to this end.

In all respects of fine and durable material, of external and internal finish, of accurate compensation and adjustment, of mathematically just proportions, and of practical results, our new three-quarter plate Watch challenges comparison with any in the world.

The following named gentlemen may be referred to in relation to these Watches:

Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, Me.,
N. P. Willis, New York,
Horace Greeley,
Cyrus W. Field, New York,

COUGHS.—THE SUDDEN CHANGES of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL, and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. History of a Jackson Office-Holder.

From Parton's Life of Andrew Jackson.

I soon became quite familiar with the General. Never was a man so beset with importune applicants for favors as he. One day, when I had had to wait long for an opportunity to transact business with him, I chanced to make a remark which, I think, had an important effect upon my subsequent career. He had got rid of his visitors one after another, and at last we sat alone in the office. He had signed my accounts with his great pen, and we were conversing on some topic of the day. He seemed tired and melancholy, and I was moved to say something kind to him. I saw not before me the conquering general or the illustrious President, but a tired, sad old man, far from his home and friends, farthest of all from his wife, and approached chiefly by flatterers, beggars and sycophants. What to say to him I knew not, but contrived at last to blunder out this:

"General, I should think that you'd feel lonely here."

"Lonely?" he exclaimed. "How can you think so? Most people would think I had plenty of company. What makes you think I am lonely?"

"Well, General," I replied, "I don't mean lonely exactly. But it is not here as it was at the Hermitage, where your friends could come in and chat with you in a social way."

"No," said the President, "it is not here as it was at the Hermitage. There you're right, my young friend."

"I'll tell you, General," I continued, "exactly what I mean. Every one that comes here has an axe to grind. At least it seems so to me, and, in fact, they say so themselves."

"Yes," said the General, "I suppose that is so. Now, let me ask you, what axe have you to grind?"

"My axe is ground," said I.

"It is, is it?" said the General, laughing.

"Yes, sir, my axe is ground. I have the pleasantest place in the department, and I am perfectly satisfied with it."

"You are perfectly satisfied, are you?"

"Perfectly."

"You have reached the summit of your ambition, then?"

"Certainly, General. I ask nothing better. I wish nothing better."

"You have no axe to grind at all?"

"None, General, none whatever."

"Neither for yourself nor for anybody else?"

"Neither for myself nor for anybody else?"

Upon this the old man rose, took my hand and said, with much tenderness:

"My young friend, come often to see me, and we'll have many a good chat together, just as if we were at the Hermitage."

From that time forward I cannot be mistaken in supposing I was a favorite with General Jackson. He treated me with the most marked cordiality, and appeared to give me all his confidence. The time came when I put his favor to the test, and it stood the test, as I will relate by-and-by.

Mr. Van Buren well knew my intimacy with the President, but it made no difference in his demeanor towards me. Mr. Van Buren never employed the arts of personal conciliation of which he has been accused. To me he was always perfectly polite, but cold and reserved. I tried hard to win his regard, but never felt that I had made the slightest progress toward it. Even when I had rendered him a personal service, out of the line of my official duty, I could not lessen the distance between us by a hair's breadth. He had a singular aversion to accounts, and an inaptitude in keeping them that was strange in a man who was so careful in discharging his pecuniary obligations. Soon after he arrived in Washington he came to me, with a puzzled expression on his countenance, and said that his bank account was all in confusion, and that he would be very much obliged to me if I would look it over, and tell him positively whether he had any money in the bank or not. I told him I would do it with much pleasure, and asked him for his check-book.

"Check-book! check-book!" said he, "what is that?"

He actually did not know what a check-book was; and, indeed, they were not commonly used, thirty years ago, except by business men. When I had straightened out his account, I procured him a check-book, and explained to him the mode of using it. He manifested the same delight as a child does in a new toy, and I saw him show it as a great curiosity to one of his Southern friends.

I remember a curious incident of my intercourse with the Secretary of State. I had occasion to call upon him at his own house one morning, when I found him writing.

"Read that letter, Mr. Clark," said he, when he had finished, "and tell me what you think of it."

I read the letter, and said:

"I will tell you what I think of it with a great deal of pleasure, Mr. Van Buren, if you will tell me what it's about."

"That will do," he replied; "I think it will answer."

He then folded the letter, and immediately turned to the business upon which I had come. The letter was so worded that no one unacquainted with its subject could have attached the slightest meaning to any part of it.

This extraordinary man, cold and cautious as he seemed to me and to the world, was exceedingly amiable, and even jovial, in his own home. I caught him once lying on a sofa, engaged in a downright romp with his boys, which he finished by throwing a sofa-cushion at one of them. He was also, at times, very frank in avowing both his opinions and his expedients. One day, after he had astonished a company of Virginians with a display of what seemed to them almost a miraculous familiarity with the local politics of Virginia, I asked him how he had acquired his information, adding that the Virginians, upon going out, had expressed boundless wonder at the extent of his knowledge. He answered that he had gathered most of it from those very Virginians with whom he had conversed. He had allowed them to talk ad libitum, and by adding what they let fall to what he knew before, he was able to appear to know more than they did.

The terror of Mr Van Buren's public life was this: to be thought an intriguer.—The very pains which he took to avoid the appearance of intrigue was often the means of fastening the charge upon him.

But to return to General Jackson. The General was a striking illustration of the doctrine of compensation. His will, if directly resisted, was not to be shaken by mortal power; but, if artfully managed, he was more easily swayed and imposed upon than any man of his day. There was a certain member of Congress who had set his heart upon a certain foreign mission, and had long tried to compass his aim, without effect. He obtained a clue, in some way, to one of the General's weaknesses, and changed his tactics in consequence. He cultivated my acquaintance assiduously, and accompanied me sometimes to the White House, where he gradually established himself upon a footing of office familiarity. I saw him one afternoon perform the following scene in the General's private office, myself being the only spectator thereof. The General was smoking his pipe.

"General Jackson," began the member, "I am about to ask you a favor—a favor, sir, that will cost you nothing, and the government nothing, but will gratify me exceedingly."

"It's granted, sir," said the President.—"What is it?"

"Well, General, I have an old father at home who has as great an esteem for your character as one man can have for another. Before I left home, he charged me to get for him, if possible, one of General Jackson's pipes, and that is the favor I now ask of you."

"Oh, certainly," said the General, laughing and ringing the bell.

When the servant came, he told him to bring two or three clean pipes.

"Excuse me, General," said the member, "but may I ask you for the very pipe you have just been smoking?"

"This one," asked the General. "By all means, if you prefer it."

The President was proceeding to empty it of the ashes, when the member once more interrupted him.

"No, General, don't empty out the tobacco. I want that pipe just as it is, just as it left your lips."

The member took the pipe to the table, folded it carefully and reverently in a piece of paper, thanked the General for the precious gift with the utmost warmth, and left the room with the air of a man whose highest flight of ambition had just been more than gratified.

In a little less than three weeks after, that man departed on a mission to one of the South American States, and it was that pipe did the business for him. At least I thought so; and if there is any meaning in a wink, he thought so too. It was also a fact, as he in confidence assured me, that his old father did revere General Jackson, and would be much gratified to possess one of his pipes. I once heard a pill-vender say to one who had laughed at his extravagant advertisements:

"Well, these pills of mine, to my certain knowledge, have cured some people."

Speaking of office-seeking, I will relate to you the singular process by which a clerk in the War Department was transformed into a Senator of the United States. If I had not been an eye witness of this man's extraordinary proceedings, I could not believe the story. He was a loud, blustering, fluent, idle politician from the North, a protege or friend of one of the Burrites. He was sitting on the piazza of a hotel, one afternoon (an employment he was much addicted to) when a young man from the South began to declaim against the administration, and to denounce with particular warmth the Burrite just referred to.

"Sir," said the war-clerk, "if you feel it necessary to speak in that way, I will thank you to speak in a lower tone. The gentleman whom you are abusing is a friend of mine."

"I don't care a —— who's your friend.—I shall say what I please of the scoundrel, and as loud as I please."

The clerk flew at the young Southerner; but the bystanders interfered before much damage was done. In a few minutes an officer of the army presented to the clerk a challenge from the young gentleman, which the clerk accepted. He asked me to be his second. I knew just as much of the dueling science as he did, which was nothing at all; nor did I think it proper for an employee of the government to bring discredit upon it by engaging in an affair of that kind. I declined peremptorily; and advised him to procure the assistance of a military man who understood such things. He started in pursuit of the only officer with whom he had exchanged a syllable in Washington; a captain to whom he had been casually introduced the evening before in a bar-room. He found his man and induced him to serve.

"What are your weapons?" asked the second. "You have the choice, you know."

"Have I?" exclaimed the clerk. "By Heaven, then, I have him on the hip. I choose small swords. Time, to-morrow morning at sunrise."

The second remonstrated. The principal insisted. The second of the Southerner protested. The clerk was inflexible. A postponement was asked, that weapons might be procured, and the young gentleman instructed in their use. But, no; the next morning at the rising of the sun was the only time the clerk would hear of. Late in the evening, after many hours of negotiation, and the interchange of notes innumerable, the second of the Southerner formally declined the meeting. The next morning the clerk posted the young man as a coward on all the walls of Washington. In the course of the day I met the victorious clerk and asked him where he had learned the use of the small sword.

"Small sword?" said he. "I never had one in my hand. I don't know what it is. And I knew he didn't."

He gained great eclat by this proceeding. He was regarded as a champion of the Administration; and the President, who could no more help sympathizing with a fight than a duck can help liking water, was intensely gratified. The same day news came that an important vacancy had occurred in a remote Territory, and my fighting friend saw that his hour had come. He immediately wrote a resignation of his clerkship, dating it on the day of the challenge, and presented it to the chief of his department with these words:

"Of course, sir, before accepting the challenge yesterday, I resigned my place in the department. I am not the man to connect the administration with a duel. Here it is, sir, dated, as you will perceive, yesterday."

The Secretary was delighted. The President was completely won. Rather than not reward a partisan who had fought for him, or had shown a willingness to fight, he would have almost have resigned his own office in favor of the champion. He gave the ex-clerk the vacant place. He gave him nine letters of introduction to personal friends in the Territory. Shortly after the Territory was admitted into the Union as a sovereign State, and my fighting friend came back to Washington as one of its Senators. He served out his whole term without once revisiting the State he represented, and then retired to private life.

This reminds me of a conversation I once had with the President upon the subject of party appointments. I said:

"I want to ask you, General, about your advice to Mr. Monroe, that politics should not influence appointments. How do you reconcile that doctrine with the conduct of your administration?"

His countenance assumed a knowing, slightly waggish expression, as he replied:

"Young man, we are never too old to learn."

On another occasion he said:

"I am no politician. But if I were a politician, I would be a New York politician."

I had not held my clerkship long before I discovered that the accounts of all the departments were kept in the most antiquated and awkward manner. Custom and tradition ruled supreme. Some accounts in the Treasury Department were kept just as they were in the days of Alexander Hamilton, and according to modes devised and established by him. I did all I could for years to get the system of bookkeeping by double entry introduced, but I met with insuperable difficulty. Not a man in high place knew what double entry was, or could be made to know. After a long struggle, I succeeded so far as to induce a certain Secretary of the Treasury to promise to examine a treatise on the art of bookkeeping by double entry. I sent him one instantly, and hoped much from his well-known zeal and intelligence. Some days after I received a message from the Secretary, asking me to call at his office, as he had made up his mind upon the subject of double entry, and wished me to learn his conclusions. I waited upon him.

"Ah, Mr. Clark, walk in. I am now prepared to show you, sir, that double entry is no better than single."

He took down a volume of English parliamentary reports, turned to the evidence given by the inventor of a new system of bookkeeping before a committee, and pointed to these words: "Double entry itself is no safeguard against omissions and false entries."

"There!" said the Secretary, triumphantly, "You see? High authority, sir. A professor of bookkeeping! No safeguard against omissions or false entries!"

"Why, Mr. Secretary," said I, utterly confounded at the man's simplicity, "no system can prevent omissions and false entries. If your clerk sells five hundred barrels of flour, and enters four hundred, or omits to enter them at all, how can any system of bookkeeping prevent it? The same dishonesty can make the book balance, no matter how false the entries may be. All bookkeeping presupposes a desire to make an honest record, and all we claim for double entry is, that it enables him to do so with greater convenience, certainly, and expedition. Double entry is a self-corrector. Your bookkeeper knows to a certainty, whether he has or has not made an exact record."

The Secretary scratched his wise noddle with the end of his pen for a minute or two, and then delivered himself thus:

"Mr. Clark, I will frankly admit that you have explained away that difficulty with a great deal of ingenuity. I grant the force of your reasoning. But, sir, there is a difficulty in the way that is perfectly insurmountable. You cannot argue it down. It excludes argument."

"Indeed, sir!" said I. "What is that?"

"Well, sir," he rejoined, "this is an economical government, and no Congress will ever consent to double the number of clerks in this department!"

I am well aware that in telling this story I draw largely upon the credulity of the listener. Nevertheless, it is true. And this very Secretary held his office longer, I believe, than it has ever been held by any other incumbent since the foundation of the government. I gave up double entry after that, and I presume they are keeping accounts in Washington in the good old way to this hour.

THE ATTENTION OF THE YOUNG men of Wisconsin in particular, and of the Western and North-western States generally, is respectfully called to the advantages which this Institution offers for the acquisition of a knowledge of

BOOK-KEEPING

And commercial pursuits generally. It is now in a flourishing condition, and is working under a CHARTER OF INCORPORATION. The rooms are large and commodious, and are fitted up in splendid style. On introducing the subject to the student, he is led carefully, step by step, through the fundamental and general features of the science; and when these are fully realized, he is required to embark into a career of general speculation and merchandising, framing and adjusting contracts, purchases, sales, &c., &c., making the necessary entries in the principal and auxiliary books, in precisely the same manner and order as they are made by the skillful Book-Keeper, in the counting-room of actual business.

Thus when the work is completed, the Student finds himself, not a mere theoretical, but a practical accountant, being fully conversant with every branch of this interesting and important science, as applied to General Mercantile, Wholesale, Retail, Commission, Importing, Exporting, Foreign and Domestic Shipping, Stocks, Exchange, Banking, Manufacturing, Mining, Steamboating, Railroading and business of Compound or Company speculation, in each of which, he has met with adverse as well as prosperous operations.

The Ladies' Department is entirely separate and tastefully furnished.

TERMS:—For a full course of instruction, with the privilege of completing the same at any time, including penmanship thus affording a life Scholarship, $45.

One or two bottles are warranted to cure sick headache.
One or two bottles are warranted to regulate a costive state of the bowels.
One or two bottles will regulate all derangement of the kidneys.
Four to six bottles has cured the worst cases of dropsy.

SALT RHEUM OINTMENT,
SCROFULA OINTMENT and HEALING OINTMENT,

every sore and ulcer, of whatever kind or nature, except cancer, that has taken root, is perfectly and permanently cured.

ROXBURY, Mass.

DEAR MADAM:—The reputation of the Medical Discovery, in curing all kinds of humors, is so well established, by the unanimous voice of all who have ever used it, that I need not say anything on the subject, as the most skillful physicians and the most careful druggists in the country are unanimous in its praise.

In presenting the Medical Discovery to your notice, I do it with a full knowledge of its curative powers, in relieving all, and curing most of those diseases to which you are unfortunately so liable. That most excruciating disease to an affectionate mother is cured as if by a miracle; your own temper is restored to its natural sweetness, and your babe from short and fretful naps to calm and sweet slumbers; and the Medical Discovery becomes a fountain of blessings to your husband and household.

In the more advanced stages of

Canker

it extends to the stomach, causing

Dyspepsia

which is nothing but canker on the stomach; then on the intestines and creating a sinking, gone feeling, and an indifference even to the cares of your family.

Kidneys

Your stomach is

Raw and Inflamed,

your food distresses you, and you can only take certain kinds, and even of that your system does not get half the nourishment it contains, as the acrimonious fluid of the canker eats it up; then your complexion loses its bloom and becomes sallow or greenish, and your good nature turns all to peevishness; and if not checked, your body loses its flesh, and the nerves of your body become relaxed. Then follows a train of diseases which the Medical Discovery is peculiarly adapted to Cure!

Palpitation of the heart, pain in the side, weakness of the spine and small of the back, pain of the hip joint when you retire, irregularity of the bowels, and also that most excruciating of diseases the Piles.

How many thousands of poor women are suffering from this disease and pining away a miserable life, and their next door neighbor does not know the cause. I wish to impress on your mind that good old proverb, "an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." In the

MEDICAL DISCOVERY

you have both the preventative and the cure, with this great and good quality, that it will never, under any circumstances, do you an injury. Yours truly, DONALD KENNEDY.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL
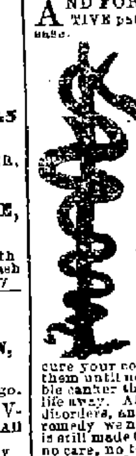
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Influenza, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Incipient Consumption,



AND FOR THE RELIEF OF CONSUMPTIVE patients in advanced stages of the disease.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town and almost every hamlet of the United States, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the communities any where which have not among them some living trophy of its victory over the subtle and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the Cherry Pectoral saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, nor neglect them until no human skill can master the inexorable canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away. All know the dreadful fatality of lung disorders, and as they know too the virtues of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them it is still made the best it can be. We spare no cost, no care, no toil to produce it the most perfect possible, and thus afford those who rely on it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cure.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC
are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search, and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Heartburn, Headache arising from disordered Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in and Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

MOFFAT'S
Life Pills and Phœnix Bitters!

THESE MEDICINES HAVE NOW been before the public for a period of THIRTY YEARS, and during that time have maintained a high character in almost every part of the Globe, for their extraordinary and immediate power of restoring perfect health to persons suffering under nearly every kind of disease to which the human frame is liable.

The following are among the distressing variety of human diseases in which the

VEGETABLE LIFE MEDICINES

Are well known to be infallible.

DYSPEPSIA, by thoroughly cleansing the first and second stomachs, and creating a flow of pure, healthy bile, instead of the stale and acrid kind; FLATULENCY, Loss of Appetite, Heartburn, Headache, Restlessness, Ill-Temper, Anxiety, Languor, and Melancholy, which are the general symptoms of Dyspepsia, will vanish, as a natural consequence of its cure.

COSTIVENESS, by cleansing the whole length of the intestines with a solvent process, and without violence; all violent purges leave the bowels costive within two days.

FEVERS of all kinds, by restoring the blood to a regular circulation, through the process of respiration in such cases, and the thorough solution of all intestinal obstruction in others.

The Life Medicines have been known to cure RHEUMATISM permanently in three weeks, and GOUT in half that time, by removing local inflammation from the muscles and ligaments of the joints.

DROPSIES of all kinds, by freeing and strengthening the kidneys and bladder; they operate most delightfully on these important organs, and hence have ever been found a certain remedy for the worst cases of GRAVEL.

Also WORMS, by dislodging from the turnings of the bowels the slimy matter to which these creatures adhere.

SCURVY, ULCERS and INVETERATE SORES, by the perfect purity which these Life Medicines give to the blood, and all the humors.

SCORBUTIC ERUPTIONS and BAD COMPLEXIONS, by their alterative effect upon the fluids that feed the skin, and the morbid state of which occasions all eruptive complaints, sallow, cloudy, and other disagreeable complexions.

The use of these Pills for a very short time will effect an entire cure of SALT RHEUM, and a striking improvement in the clearness of the skin. COMMON COLDS and INFLUENZA will always be cured by one dose, or by two in the worst cases.

PILES.—The original proprietor of these Medicines, was cured of Piles, of 35 years standing by the use of the LIFE MEDICINES alone.

FEVER AND AGUE.—For this scourge of the western country, these Medicines will be found a safe, speedy, and certain remedy. Other medicines leave the system subject to a return of the disease—a cure by these Medicines is permanent—TRY THEM, BE SATISFIED AND BE CURED.

BILIOUS FEVERS AND LIVER COMPLAINTS.—General Debility, Loss of Appetite, and Diseases of Females—the Medicines have been used with the most beneficial results in cases of this description:—King's Evil and Scrofula, in its worst forms, yields to the mild yet powerful action of these remarkable Medicines. Night Sweats, Nervous Debility, Nervous Complaints of all kinds, Palpitation of the Heart, Painters' Colic, are speedily cured.

MERCURIAL DISEASES.—Persons whose constitutions have become impaired by the injudicious use of Mercury, will find these Medicines a perfect cure, as they never fail to eradicate from the system all the effects of Mercury, infinitely sooner than the most powerful preparations of Sarsaparilla. Prepared and sold by W. B. MOFFAT, 335 Broadway, New York.

BŒRHAVE'S
Holland Bitters
FOR DYSPEPSIA,
Liver Complaint, Fever and Ague, &c.

THE successful introduction and use of this celebrated Remedy has been the signal for a literal flood of compounds called "Bitters," offered in various forms, from a quart bottle to a five-gallon keg, until this word "Bitters" is but another name for "grog" or some villainous whiskey mixture.

But this truly great relief derived from the minute dose, one teaspoonful, of our medicine,

BŒRHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS,

LATEST NEWS!

BY LAST NIGHT'S REPORT

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—9 P. M.

Mr. Bigler offered an amendment to Mr. Morrill's tariff bill, which was referred to the finance committee, with the bill.

Mr. Hunter, from the committee of finance reported the bill authorizing Treasury notes, amended by asserting $500 instead of $100 as the minimum amount, and with an amendment referring to the date for their expiration, and the interest allowed, and that the proceeds of the sales of the public lands are to be set a part as security for the redemption of the notes.

Mr. Hunter said it was an object to give the notes to the lowest bidder.

Mr. Anthony said let the notes be sold for what they will bring. The Government should deal with all creditors alike.

Mr. Hunter.—We hope the Government will be able to pay all its debts. We propose to set aside the proceeds of the public domain so as to encourage bidders to get notes at par. If ten millions were issued will it not help the notes not only of this Government, but of the governments of all the States?

Mr. Anthony called the yeas and nays on adopting Mr. Hunter's amendment.

Mr. Hale said the Government was pledged to redeem the notes.

Mr. Cameron quoted the statements from the New York Day Book. I would like to see notes issued in sums not less than $20.

After debate the Senate passed the House loan bill, previously reducing the amount from ten millions to three millions.

Mr. Yulee gave motion for a reconsideration.

After the bill passed, the resolutions in reference to secession, were called up.

Mr. Foot in the Chair.

Mr. Wigfall commenced speaking, when Mr. Yulee interrupted him, and asked leave to move a reconsideration of the bill providing for the issue of Treasury notes.

Mr. Wigfall continued his remarks till 3:55 P. M., when, on motion of Mr. Hunter, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of Executive business; after which the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The Speaker, pursuant to an order of yesterday, called the various States for propositions relating to the present condition of the country.

Mr. Thayer submitted a series of resolutions declaring among other things that the representatives of the people regarded it as their duty to forget all parties and sections, and devote themselves honestly and earnestly to the cause of their country; that any citizens of this Republic willing to barter the public welfare for their own advantage, thus creating animosity between the States, are wholly unworthy the confidence of the American people; that the present unfriendly feeling has risen from the usurpations of Congress and the Executive; that the rights of American citizens are above Congress and the President, and that territorial governments should not be compelled to derive their powers from their consent; that there shall be no legislation whatever on the subject of slavery; that every Congressional district shall be entitled to one presidential elector, and each State to two on a general ticket.

Mr. John Cochrane submitted a preamble declaring that a conflict of opinion dangerous to the peace and prosperity of the Union concerning the true intent and meaning of the Constitution relative to African slavery, and proposing amendments to the Constitution, to establish a dividing line similar to the Missouri compromise line, prohibiting Congress from passing laws interfering with the inter-State slave trade or the rights of slave holders in transit, or temporarily sojourning in a non-slaveholding States, and declares all States laws, in any degree imposing or infringing on the Fugitive Slave law, null and void.

Mr. Adrian submitted resolutions declaratory of non-intervention as the true remedy: that all State laws in conflict with the Constitution and laws of Congress ought to be repealed; that the fugitive slave laws and all other laws of the land ought to be respected and obeyed, and no obstacle thrown in the way of their execution; that the Constitution is the result of conciliation and compromise, and can only be preserved in the exercise of a similar spirit.

Mr. Morris, of Pa., offered a resolution instructing the Union Committee to inquire and report as to whether State personal liberty bills are in conflict with the Constitution; and further to inquire whether the fugitive slave law is susceptible of amendment to ascertain more certainly the actual condition of the fugitive.

Mr. Stuart, of Md., offered a preamble setting forth the principles on which the Government is founded, and that when it threatens to become destructive to the great objects which it was intended to accomplish every State should be placed in a condition to provide for its own security; that there are good reasons to believe that certain States are about to withdraw from the Union; and concluding with resolution instructing Select Committee to inquire among other things whether any measure can be adopted to preserve the Constitution in its purity, and to secure Southern rights, and if this is not possible, then as to a reasonable and just mode of settlement with the separated parts.

Mr. Leake offered a resolution that the Constitution ought to be amended so that Congress may have no jurisdiction over the question of domestic slavery in States, Territories, districts, arsenals and dockyards; that it shall be the duty of Congress efficiently and adequately to protect it by legislation where it exists; that no Territorial government has the power to legislate on the subject and the right of the master over his slave while temporarily sojourning, or in transit through non-slaveholding States shall be guaranteed and protected, and fugitives shall be delivered up or paid for by the State in which they are rescued.

Mr. Smith, of Va., introduced a resolution instructing the committee to inquire as to the policy of declaring out of the Federal Union any member thereof which may aim to nullify the acts of Congress.

Mr. Jenkins offered a resolution instructing the committee to inquire as to the expediency of the Fugitive Slave Law, with a view to the prompt rendition of fugitive slaves, and of giving proper compensation to owners of those not returned. Also, as to the propriety of providing, by constitutional amendment or congressional enactment, for the protection of the rights of slaveholders in the common territory.

Mr. Hutchins introduced a resolution, asking what legislation is necessary to give full effect to that part of the Constitution which provides that each State shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of the slave states; and also what legislation is necessary to secure to all the people, whether residing in or traveling through any State, the full benefit of that part of the Constitution which secures them against unreasonable searches and seizures in the absence of probable cause.

Mr. Cox, of Ohio, submitted the following:

Whereas, one of the chief and first complaints on the part of the slaveholding States of this confederacy is the neglect and failure of certain executives of the Northern States to deliver as fugitives from justice, persons indicted for treason, murder and slave stealing in said Slave States, therefore,

Resolved, That the committee of thirty-three for the re-establishment of peace between the States be required to consider what, if any, further legislation is necessary to carry out the second clause of the second section of the fourth article of the Constitution for the delivery of fugitives from justice, who shall flee from one State and be found in another one, the demand of the executive authority of the State from which such fugitive shall have fled, and that such inquiry be made with a special view to punish all judges, attorneys, generals, executives or other State officers who shall impede the execution of said clause in the Constitution, either in respect to the delivery of felons who may be indicted for treason or murder in attempted slave insurrection, or who may be indicted for slave stealing.

Mr. Sherman introduced resolutions declaring that the only true and effective remedy for the dissensions that now exist between the Slave States and the people thereof, is in the faithful observance by the several States and the people thereof, of all the compromises of the Constitution, and of the laws made in pursuance thereof; that the committee of thirty-three be instructed to enquire whether any State, or the people thereof, have failed to obey and endorse the obligations imposed by the Constitution, and if so the remedy thereof, and whether further legislation is required to ensure such enforcement; that to avoid all further controversies that may arise in regard to the several Territories of the U. S., the said committee divide the said Territories into States of a convenient size, with a view to their prompt admission into the U.S., on an equal footing with the original States.

Mr. Bingham introduced a resolution that the special committee of thirty-three report to this House such additional legislation as they may deem necessary to suppress and put down armed rebellion against the laws and authorities of the U. S.; to protect the property thereof against unlawful seizure, and the citizens thereof against unlawful violence.

Mr. Mallory introduced a resolution, constitutionally establishing a line similar to the Missouri Compromise line providing for the admission of States, and prohibiting the interference of Congress with slavery.

Mr. Stevens introduced a resolution instructing the committee to inquire into the expediency of amending the fugitive slave law; declaring it a felony to resist the federal officers in its execution, or attempting to rescue a fugitive while in the custody of the U. S. Marshal.

Mr. English introduced a resolution that the territory of the United States should be equally divided between the slave and non-slaveholding States—slavery to be reorganized in the one, and prohibited in the other section. That the right of property in slaves shall not be destroyed or impaired by Congressional agitation. Whenever a slave shall have been rescued, the owner shall be allowed the double value of a slave, recoverable in the State ports.

Mr. Kilgore introduced a resolution for instructions to the committee to inquire into the expediency of amending the fugitive slave law so as to provide the right of trial by jury, where an illegal fugitive claims to be free. When citizens of a non-slaveholding State assist in the escape of a fugitive, or in a forcible rescue, the owner of the slave shall be indemnified, persons thus acting to be subjected to criminal prosecutions, and that the committee prepare such other amendments as may be thought necessary to give satisfaction without destroying the efficiency of the law, or without impairing the constitutional right of any citizen of the United States.

Mr. Hallman introduced a resolution declaring the right of secession wholly unwarrantably by the letter and spirit of the Constitution; that mutual and common obligations render it obligatory, on the Federal Government, to enforce, in good faith, the laws enacted pursuant to its authority, and instructing the committee to enquire whether any action is necessary, in view of the present condition of public affairs, against the attempt, by any State, to nullify the laws necessary for the existence of the Confederation.

Mr. Davis of Indiana, presented a petition asking Congress to preclude the legislation on slavery.

Mr. Wiblack presented a resolution providing for indemnity for slaves rescued by force or violence, and that the committee report by or bill otherwise.

Mr. McClernand introduced a resolution resolving that the committee of thirty three be instructed to enquire and report whether Congress has constitutional power to make the people of any particular State, or municipal corporation therein, liable to indemnity to the owner of any slave escaping into such State, and who has been rescued from rightful custody or otherwise; and also whether it is expedient to establish a special federal policy for the purpose of executing the laws of the U. S., and promptly suppressing any unlawful resistance thereto; and also, whether any further legislation is required to secure prompt action and full enforcement of the guarantees of the Constitution; or whether an amendment of the Constitution is necessary for the purpose.

Mr. Noell introduced a resolution instructing the committee to take into consideration the propriety of abolishing by amendment to the Constitution, the office of President, and of establishing in lieu thereof an executive council consisting of three members, to be elected by districts composed of the contiguous States as near as practicable, each member of said council to be armed with a veto power such as is now vested in the President; if such plan be deemed practicable by said special committee that they report to this House such details thereof as may be necessary to accommodate the same to the existing Constitution of the U. S.; that said special committee also be requested to take into consideration the means necessary, if any can be devised, to restore the equilibrium between the free and slave States in the Senate, and particularly whether this end can be accomplished by a voluntary division on the part of some of the slave States into two or more States.

Mr. Hindman proposed amendments to the Constitution expressly recognizing property in slaves where slavery now exists or may hereafter exists, and express the denial of the Federal Government to prohibit or interfere with it any where, or restrict the trade in slaves between the States; also, to express an agreement to protect slavery wherever the federal jurisdiction extends, and guarantee the protection of slaves while passing through the free States; any State defeating or impairing the fugitive law not to be entitled to representation in Congress until the nullifying laws be repealed.

Mr. Larrabee introduced a resolution recommending the several States to call a convention, for amendments to the Constitution, to the end that the people may thus be enabled to confer together in the manner provided in the establishment of a Government, and adopt such measures as in their wisdom may be proper to promote the commonwealth of the States.

The above propositions were severally read, and referred to the Union Committee.

Mr. Bonham said he had received a notice to attend a meeting of the Committee on Military Affairs on Friday, and as he did not expect to remain much longer a member of Congress, he felt it his duty to resign his position as a member thereof, in order that the vacancy may at once be filled. He did not adopt this course owing to any dissatisfaction with the Committee. He had always cherished a lively recollection of their uniform and courteous kindness toward him. He was excused.

Mr. Thayer from a committee on public lands reported a bill creating the land district of Dacotah, and providing for the admission of a delegate in Congress from that Territory.

Mr. Grow approved the bill, and mentioned that he had prepared bills for organizing various Territorial governments including Dacotah.

House passed a bill making further provocation in relation to incorporated land offices, and the bill extending the time for Oregon to select certain lands.

Mr. Cox inquired whether they would be reported with the same provision of those of last session prohibiting slavery.

Mr. Grow replied in the affirmative and said the House could if they choose strike out the provisions.

Mr. Thayer's bill was referred to the committee of the whole on the state of the Union.

Mr. Sherman, from the committee on ways and means, reported a deficiency appropriation bill.

Mr. Morris, of Ill., wished to offer a resolution declaring devotion to the Union, and made some remarks thereon.

Mr. Ruffin called him to order.

Mr. Morris—I have said all I wanted to. (Much confusion.)

Mr. John Cochrane thought that these proceedings were a sufficient argument why the House should adjourn, which was agreed to amidst calls for the ayes and nays. Adjourned.

Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—9 P. M.

Ex-Gov. Thomas, of Md., now at the head of the Patent Office, has accepted the Secretaryship of the Treasury.

At a meeting of the committee of 33 to-day, M. Nelson submitted a proposition which deems a suitable basis for adjustment. Ultra Southern members are inclined to reject all propositions and declarations.

A re-construction of the Government is inevitable.

Union Meeting in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12—9 P. M.

The Union demonstration to-morrow promises to be an immense affair. The public buildings, courts, and many stores will be closed, and the citizens generally will unite in the mass meeting at the State House.

Pottifer Curtis was to lecture to-morrow evening at Concert Hall, but as the proprietors of the hall apprehended a renewal of the riot which occurred at the National Hall, where Mr. Curtis spoke last in this city, on John Brown's merits, they have refused permission.

Mayor Henry has been in consultation with the managers of the Lecture Institute, and advised them not to force Curtis on the public, especially on the day set apart for their grand Union demonstration, when they desire to convince the South that Northerners desire the protection of their rights.—The Mayor offered them five hundred police to preserve order if Curtis persisted in lecturing, but advised them to desist, as this force might be insufficient to stay a riot.

Kansas Matters.

LEAVENWORTH, Dec. 12—9 P. M.

Gen. Harney, with troops from Fort Leavenworth, will arrive at that post to-morrow. It is thought a portion of the force from Ft. Riley will remain in the vicinity of Fort Scott.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 9.

Latest news from the border to the effect that Montgomery had not been to Mound City for two weeks. Gen. Frost had determined to station three companies of cavalry and battery of artillery at two points, opposite Bourbon and Linn Co.'s, Kansas, to protect residents. Brigade was to start home on Monday last.

A bill to appoint a Commissioner to sister Slave States, created much discussion.

Resolutions requesting the Governor to communicate with Governors of other Southern States on the condition of the country was adopted by both House. Secession probable. Adjourned to-night.

MONETARY.

WEDNESDAY P. M., Dec. 12th, 1860.

There is no change, and, in fact, nothing doing in our money market. There is no movement whatever in exchange, and the same is the case in the discount market. General and complete stagnation prevails—the universal disposition being to keep quiet until matters, politically and financially, assume a more definite aspect. The movement of produce from the interior has almost entirely ceased, farmers doubtless believing that with the restoration of confidence in the financial world prices must recover to some extent, and consequently there is but little use for money in that department of trade. The receipts of hogs are also restricted by the same causes, and the demand from that source, which at this year is usually very considerable, is at present extremely limited. The shipments of flour by rail continue liberal, and are doubtless cancelling a good share of our indebtedness to the East, while many of our merchants deposit the amount of their obligations as they mature, and send forward the bank certificate to their Eastern creditors, in cases where such an arrangement is acceptable to the latter.

MONEY AND STOCKS AT NEW YORK.

MONEY MATTERS AT CHICAGO.

The Tribune, of this morning, says:

The money market for the day shows scarcely any perceptible change. If anything, we think the banks have been able to supply their customers rather more freely with exchange. As nobody expected to go any higher, holders have been willing to sell at the present rate. It is firm (selling) at 10 per cent. prem.—high enough in all conscience. The buying prices are 9@9½. Some of the banks seem still very short, while with others the supply is a shade better.

New York advices to-day report prices of produce rather better, and should they become steady, merchants will very generally go into the pork, provision and produce shipping business, and make their own exchange rather than pay 10 per cent. prem. for it. Some of the railroads, it is reported, have already sent forward very considerable invoices. Others will do it, doubtless, as their necessities may require. Of course no one in these times can see far ahead, but to-day appearances begin to indicate a slight movement for the better. A single day, however, may throw us further back than ever.

The market for paper is as yet perfectly stagnant. An eastern bill, or any other reliable business paper for discount, would be a welcome visitor at the banks. Any amount of currency is lying in their vaults, to them and the public for all practical purposes perfectly useless. The only persons benefited are the "very obliging gentlemen" who have issued the bills. They expect to draw their 8 per cent interest on their State bonds, but in this most of them are mistaken, at least for the present, for the Auditor in most cases will hold the coupons due Jan. 1st. on account of depreciation of stocks. But with them it is only a question of time, for the stocks will be quite sure to go back to old figures, and they will get their interest, while our city banks must carry them, and the business public be fleeced to the tune of 10 per cent prem. for exchange.

If the Legislature do not protect the people from such swindling in the future, they will deserve a monument of everlasting infamy.

FINANCIAL MATTERS AT CINCINNATI.

The Gazette of yesterday morning says:

The money market maintains all its stringent features, and we have no improvement to notice either in feeling or action. Bankers are rediscounting to some extent, to relieve their customers, but beyond this it may be said that nothing is done. The condition and disposition of bankers being well understood, money is now rarely applied, for and the street presents a very quiet appearance.

The market for New York exchange continues to improve, an advance of ⅛ having been established to-day, closing firm at ⅜@½ prem. buying and 1 prem. selling. The Valley Bank advanced its rate to ½ prem. Philadelphia was ½ to 1 dis, buying and par selling. Baltimore 2½@3 dis, buying and 1 dis. selling. Gold advanced, with sales at 1@1½ prem. New Orleans exchange is nominal. In Western currency there was no change, the market continuing heavy at previous quotations, except for Iowa.—Parties advertise in our columns to buy the latter at 8 dis. We quote:

Illinois, solvent	15 dis
Wisconsin	15 dis
Iowa	10 dis
Missouri	10 dis
Wheeling and branches	4@5 dis
Eastern Virginia	8@10 dis
Pittsburg	2@3 dis
Interior Pennsylvania	5 dis
Baltimore	5 dis
Tennessee, old banks	5 dis
North and South Carolina	10 dis
Georgia	10 dis
Alabama	10 dis
Indiana Free Banks, solvent	2 dis
Bank of Bloomington, Indiana	25 dis

Our par currency consist of Ohio, The Bank of the State of Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana (handled cautiously) New York and New England.

There was a large number of suspensions at New Orleans on the 4th and 5th, but none of the houses were connected with this city, being chiefly cotton and sugar factors. Several of the suspended firms ranked A No. 1.

STOPPAGE OF A LARGE N. Y. PRODUCE HOUSE.

The New York Times, of Saturday, in its money article says:

The renewed decline to almost the lowest points at the beginning of the difficulty in Merchant bills on England, drawn against grain and flour, has much discouraged the corn exchange to-day, and a leading firm in the trade (one of the heaviest receivers from the West in this market) yesterday stopped payment on some of their acceptances, and this morning withdrew their samples as sellers, determined to protect their consignors West, as far as practicable, from further sacrifices. Other firms, it is apprehended, may follow the example.

COMMERCIAL.

WEDNESDAY P. M., Dec. 12, 1860.

The receipts of flour and grain here for the past 24 hours, exclusive of the deliveries by teams, have been from the following sources:

	Flour, bus.	Wheat, bus.	Oats, bus.	Corn, bus.	Bar'y, bus.	Rye, bus
Mil. & Miss. R. R.	122	3,140	....	....	....	....
LaC. & M. R. R.	421	2,385	....	....	750	....
M. W. & B. V. R. R.	....	....	....	....	....	....
M. & C. R. R.	28	....	....	200	155	....
Total	571	5,525	....	200	905	....

The wheat market was firmer to-day, in consequence of the advanced figures asked at New York, and although buyers offered better prices by 1c a bus, than yesterday, no sales to our knowledge were made. The receipts are trifling, and the great bulk of what is coming in is accompanied with orders to "hold." There was also a little more enquiry for flour, but no disposition to concede to higher prices. Sales of about four to five hundred barrels were made on 'Change at $3,25@3,60 for fair to choice country Extra.

There was no change in the market for dressed hogs. Packers paid $4,75@5,25 for light to medium hogs. No heavy lots on the market. Receipts only 90 head.

CHICAGO MARKET, DECEMBER 11.

Receipts at Chicago, yesterday, included 1,877 bbls flour, 10,167 bus wheat, 5,120 bus corn, 146 dressed and 1,772 live hogs. In reference to the market the Tribune says:

Receipts of hogs, live and dressed, to-day, amounted to only 1,318. Under this light supply and a fair inquiry both by packers and shippers, live hogs were firm, with sales at $4,20@4,75 gross. Dressed hogs were also firm, and in some instances an advance of 12½c was paid—the sales ranging from $4,75@5,50.

The provision market remains quiet but firm. The scarcity of Eastern Exchange causes grocery and dry goods men to come into the market, and several lots of mess pork were sold to-day at $14,75@15. The regular provision brokers, however, have no orders.—Lard is firm at 10@10¼c. Tallow, 9¼@9½c for prime city. Hides are du..

The wheat market to-day was firm, owing to a fair speculative inquiry, and we note an advance of 1@1½c ℔ bus—with sales of No. 1 spring at 71@72c, and No. 2 do at 63@69c. Flour was in fair demand, but buyers and sellers could not meet, and the transactions were light at $3,00@3,50 for common to good spring extras. Fair Timothy Seed was sold at $2,00. Highwines quiet at 15c.

HOGS AND PROVISIONS AT CINCINNATI.

From the Gazette of Tuesday morning:

In our general markets business was very dull and prices of most articles continue to tend downward.—The receipts of hogs to-day are light, comprising only 1,000 head since Saturday, but moderate as are the offerings, they are in excess of the demand. About 1,000 head sold to-day at from $5 for fair averages down to $4,75 for light, and in the afternoon heavy hogs were offered at $5, and late in the day 200 lb averages were obtainable at $4,75. Packers do not seem disposed to take hold, and it is doubtful whether, in the present condition of things, with political matters unsettled, and financial affairs very close, buyers would take hold freely at even $4. The condition of the trade is altogether more gloomy, and the bottom apparently further below the surface than at any previous time this season. There was more disposition to buy when prices were in the neighborhood of $6, than there is now to invest at $4,75. Provisions sympathized with hogs, and the market closed nominal at $14 for mess pork, and 4, 5¾, and 6¾c for green shoulders, sides and hams. Lard was obtainable at 9¾c. There was no demand for any article except in the small way.

The experiment of running a line of steamers across the lake, in connection with the D. & M. R. R., during the winter as well as the rest of the year, has thus far proved successful. She returned last night, taking upwards of 3,000 bbls flour and a large quantity of other freight. The Detroit was due last night, and will probably leave here to-day at the usual hour. The steamer Comet also continues running between this port and Two Rivers. She left the latter place Tuesday at 4 P. M., and arrived here yesterday morning. She will return to-night, leaving OLMSTED'S dock at 8 o'clock.

SOYER'S SULTANA'S SAUCE.

For Hot and Cold Dishes of all Kinds.

THIS MOST DELICIOUS and appetising Sauce, invented by the renowned "SOYER," for the London Reform Club, is, since his decease, manufactured by the well known house of CROSSE & BLACKWELL, London, from the original recipe. It is the favorite sauce in England and on the Continent, with a high and growing reputation among American Epicures, and is much approved of as a stimulant to the appetite and aid in digestion.

Opinions of the London Press.

"We recommend our correspondent to try Mons. SOYER'S new Sauce, entitled the 'Sultana's Sauce.' It is made after the Turkish recipe; its flavor is excellent, and it affords considerable aid in cases of SLOW AND WEAK DIGESTION."—The Lancet.

"Savory, Piquant and Spicy, worthy the genius of Soyer."—Observer.

"A most valuable adjunct to Fish, Flesh, and Fowl, and should have a place on every table."—Atlas.

This caution is rendered essentially necessary, as large quantities of inferior and defective Linens are prepared, season after season and sealed with the name of RICHARDSON, by Irish Houses, who, regardless of the injury thus inflicted alike on the American consumer and the manufacturers of the genuine Goods, will not readily abandon a business so profitable, while purchasers can be imposed on with Goods of a worthless character.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

RIPON & WOLF RIVER RAILROAD.

We learn that the track of this road is now laid to Omro, five miles from the Wolf River, and the freight cars of the Milwaukee & Horicon Railroad are now running to that point. The work on the remaining five miles or so, including the bridge over the Fox River at Butte de Morts, is being prosecuted vigorously.

OPENING OF THE BERGEN TUNNEL.

The formal opening of the Bergen Tunnel will take place about the 1st of January, after which as many of the trains of the Erie Road as can find accommodation at the Long Dock (in its present condition) will be run through the Tunnel, instead of to Jersey City.—The passengers will be landed at the foot of Chambers street, New York, where slips for the boats are now being built. Several boats have been procured from the East River ferries to use until spring, at which time new ones will take their places. So says the Elmira Gazette.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

N. Y. Central Railroad.—The New York Central's earnings, as officially reported by the treasurer, the past four months, have been as follows:

August	$689,125 28
September	851,795 62
October	810,590 88
November	750,891 58
Total	$3,152,403 36

This amount authorizes the opinion, that the earnings for the current six months—1st August, 1860, to 1st Feb., 1861—and out of which the next dividend is to be paid, will come quite up to $4,100,000. Such liberally increased results are entirely satisfactory to stockholders, and will warrant a liberal return, in the shape of increased dividends.

Grand Trunk Railway.—The following is the Grand Trunk Railway statement of traffic receipts for the week ending Nov. 24th, 1860:

Total receipts for week	$78,423 69
Corresponding period, 1859	63,182 79
Increase	15,240 80
Total traffic from 1st July, 1860	1,450 622 31
Same period last year	1,072,979 72

Michigan Southern R. R.—The Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana road earned in November as follows:

Passengers	$ 71,193
Freight	132,226
Mails and Express	7,650
Total	$211,129
Corresponding period in '59	186,195
Increase in 1860	$ 24,625

Erie Railroad.—The earnings of the Erie Road, it is said, were never better than thus far in December. For the first five days they reached $137,000.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE AMALGAMATION OF LANGUAGES.—There is a growing tendency in this age to appropriate the most expressive words of other languages, and after a while to incorporate them into our own; thus the word Cephalic, which is from the Greek, signifying "for the head," is now becoming popularized in connection with Mr. Spalding's great Headache remedy, but it will soon be used in a more general way, and the word Cephalic will become as common as Electrotype and many others whose distinction as foreign words has been worn away by common usage until they seem "native and to the manor born."

'ardly Realized.

Hi 'ad 'n 'orrible 'eadache this hafternoon, hand I stepped into the hapothecaries hand says hi to the man, "Can you hease me of an 'eadache?" "Does it hache 'ard," says 'e. "Hexceedingly," says hi, hand upon that 'e gave me a Cephalic Pill, hand 'pon me 'onor it cured me so quick that I 'ardly realized I 'ad 'ad an 'eadache.

☞ HEADACHE is the favorite sign by which nature makes know any deviation whatever from the natural state of the brain, and viewed in this light it may be looked upon as a safeguard intended to give notice of disease which might otherwise escape attention, till too late to be remedied; and its indications should never be neglected. Headaches may be classified under two names, viz: Symptomatic and Idiopathic. Symptomatic Headache is exceedingly common and is the precursor of a great variety of diseases, among which are Apoplexy, Gout, Rheumatism and all febrile diseases. In its nervous form it is sympathetic of disease of the stomach constituting sick headache, of hepatic disease constituting bilious headache, of worms, constipation and other disorders of the bowels, as well as renal and uterine affections. Diseases of the heart are very frequently attended with Headaches; Anaemia and plethora are also affections which frequently occasion headache. Idiopathic Headache is also very common, being usually distinguished by the name of nervous headache, sometimes coming on suddenly in a state of apparently sound health and prostrating at once the mental and physical energies, and in other instances it comes on slowly, heralded by depression of spirits or acerbity of temper. In most instances the pain is in the front of the head, over one or both eyes, and sometimes provoking vomiting; under this class may also be named Neuralgia.

For the treatment of either class of Headache the Cephalic Pills have been found a sure and safe remedy, relieving the most acute pains in a few minutes, and by its subtle power eradicating the diseases of which Headache is the unerring index.

BRIDGET.—Missus wants you to send her a box of Cephalic Glue, no, a bottle of Prepared Pills,—but I'm thinking that's not just it naither; but perhaps ye'll be aither knowing what it is. Ye see she's nigh dead and gone with the Sick Headache, and wants some more of that same as relaived her before.

Druggist—You must mean Spalding's Cephalic Pills.

Bridget—Och! sure now and you've sed it, here's the quarther and giv me the Pills and don't be all day about it aither.

Constipation or Costiveness.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Costiveness. Often originating in carelessness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of two little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and companion of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Colic, Rheumatism, Foul Breath, Piles and others of like nature, while a long train of frightful diseases, such as Malignant Fevers, Abcesses, Dysentary, Diarrhea, Dyspepsia, Apoplexy, Epilepsy, Paralysis, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom. Not unfrequently the diseases named originate in Constipation, but take on an independent existence unless the cause is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disorder should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and no person should neglect to get a box of Cephalic Pills on the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insiduous approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

A Real Blessing.

Physician.—Well, Mrs. Jones, how is that headache?

Mrs. Jones—Gone! Doctor, all gone! the pill you sent cured me in just twenty minutes, and I wish you would send more so that I can have them handy.

Physician—You can get them at any Druggist's. Call for Cephalic Pills. I find they never fail, and I recommend them in all cases of Headache.

Mrs. Jones—I shall send for a box directly, and shall tell all my suffering friends, for they are a real blessing.

TWENTY MILLIONS OF DOLLARS SAVED.—Mr. Spalding has sold two millions of bottles of his celebrated Prepared Glue, and it is estimated that each bottle saves at least ten dollars worth of broken furniture, thus making an aggregate of twenty millions of dollars reclaimed from total loss by this valuable invention. Having made his Glue a household word, he now proposes to do the world still greater service by curing all the aching heads with his Cephalic Pills, and if they are as good as his Glue, Headaches will soon vanish away like snow in July.

OVER EXCITEMENT, and the mental care and anxiety incident to close attention to business or study are among the numerous causes of Nervous Headache. The disordered state of mind and body incident to this distressing complaint is a fatal blow to all energy and ambition. Sufferers of this disorder can always obtain speedy relief from these distressing attacks by using one of the Cephalic Pills whenever the symptoms appear. It quiets the overtasked brain, soothes the strained and jarring nerves, and relaxes the tension of the stomach which always accompanies and aggravates the disordered condition of the brain.

FACT WORTH KNOWING.—Spalding's Cephalic Pills are a certain cure for Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Nervous Headache, Costiveness and General Debility.

GREAT DISCOVERY.—Among the most important of all the great medical discoveries of this age may be considered the system of vaccination for protection from Small Pox, the Cephalic Pill for relief of Headache, and the use of Quinine for the prevention of Fevers, either of which is a sure specific, whose benefits will be experienced by suffering humanity long after their discoverers are forgotten.

DID you ever have the Sick Headache? Do you remember the throbbing temples, the fevered brow, the loathing and disgust at the sight of food. How totally unfit you were for pleasure, conversation or study. One of the Cephalic Pills would have relieved you from all the suffering which you then experienced. For this and other purposes you should always have a box of them on hand to use as occasion requires.

All kinds of Headache.

By the use of these Pills the periodic attacks of Nervous or Sick Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained.

They seldom fail in removing the Nausea and Headache to which females are so subject.

They act gently upon the bowels,—removing Costiveness.

For Literary Men, Students, Delicate Females, and all persons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Laxative, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long investigation and carefully conducted experiments, having been in use many years, during which time they have prevented and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from Headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach.

They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with perfect safety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to children.
